EVEN CF-100 DIDN'T SAVE THIS DRIVER

WEYBURN, Sask. (CP)—The licence plate wasn't enough to help an Alberta motorist who appeared in magistrate's court Wednesday for speeding.

Court was told Larry H. James was clocked at 107 miles an hour. The car's licence was CF-100. James was fined $100.

Washington Captures Ball Opener

WASHINGTON—After taking a 3-0 lead in the first inning Washington Senators went on to defeat Baltimore 9-2 here today in the opening game of the American League baseball season.

Vice-president Richard Nixon, substituting for vacationing President Eisenhower, threw out the first ball.

U.S. Picks Space Flight Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three U.S. Air Force jet pilots, three navy men and a marine have been picked by the government as the Americans' best equipped to attempt space flight. Their names were announced today.

One of them two years hence may orbit the earth at an altitude of 100 to 150 miles in a satellite flight. The others probably will take similar space rides in the months following.

The seven chosen from a rigorous selection program, testing both physique and personality, are:

Navy Lieut. Malcolm S. Carpenter, 33, of Garden Grove, Calif.

Air Force Capt. Leroy G. Cooper Jr., 32, of Carbondale, Colo.

Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn, 37, of New Concord, Ohio.

Air Force Capt. Virgil I. Grissom, 33, of Mitchell, Ind.

Navy Lt.-Cmdr. Walter M. Shriver, 36, of Hackensack, N.J.

Navy Lt.-Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., 35, of East Derry, N.H.

'NEAR-MONOPOLY'

UBC 'Stolen' By Vancouver

PENTICTON (CP)—Geography has given Vancouver students a near-monopoly on British Columbia's university facilities, the University of B.C. alumni in the Okanagan has complained in a brief to the Chant royal commission on education.

"It seems that when taxes and donations are needed we have a University of B.C., but when benefits and opportunities are offered it's the University of Vancouver," said consulting engineer H. R. Hatfield, a Penticton school trustee.

He said it costs twice as much for outside students to go to UBC as it does for coast residents.

"It's safe to say the seat-warmers and good-time boys who from time to time clutter up the institution nearly all come from Vancouver—no body else can afford it."

Mr. Hatfield said the discrimination is known to UBC's governing personnel but since they live in or around Vancouver or Victoria, they never admit the situation.

Students from the rest of B.C. should in some way have the cost and opportunity of university education made equal with those of coast students, he suggested.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

"Our Father, who art in heaven, we reverently acknowledge Thy lordship over our lives. Push back the borders of the spirit, that we may glimpse a vision of Thy divine presence. Take our small affairs and make them large with meaning as we attach them to Thy holy will. Enlarge the horizons of our understanding and concern for others. Give us directions from above when we lose the way. Enlist us in the continuing struggle with evil. And in times of loneliness and defeat may the Christ spirit bring new hope and courage; in His name. Amen."

Reds Sending More Help To Kassem, Cairo Claims

CAIRO (AP)—Cairo radio says Iraq has granted entry visas to 2,000 Kurd tribesmen from the Soviet Union in addition to 855 reported to have passed through the Suez Canal Monday on the Russian liner Gruzia.

The broadcast gave no source of the information. And there was no confirmation available. The reported movement of Kurds from the Soviet Union has aroused fear that the Communist ranks in Baghdad are being strengthened.

The UAR government believes the Kurds are being sent to Baghdad to strengthen Premier Abdel Karim Kassem in his feud with UAR President Nasser and Iraqi Arab nationalists who oppose the growing Communist influence on Kassem's government.

HOCKEY FINAL ON TV AT 5.30

The CBC reports that it will carry the first game in the Stanley Cup finals between Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs tonight at 5.30, Channels 6 and 2.

The second game, says the CBC, will be screened Saturday night on Channels 6 and 2 commencing at 5.30.

'I CHOSE ARROGANCE'

Genius of Design Not Humble Man

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Frank Lloyd Wright, colorful and controversial genius of design, died today in a Phoenix hospital following a brief illness. He was 89.

A giant on the national and international architectural scene, Wright underwent an operation Monday for removal of an intestinal obstruction. He had been stricken Saturday at his winter home near Scottsdale.

Wright was almost as noted for his pithy comments as for his unusual buildings.

HONEST ARROGANCE

"Early in life I had to choose between honest arrogance and hypocritical humility," he said at the age of 87. "I chose honest arrogance and have seen no occasion to change."

Born June 8, 1869, in Richland Centre, Wis., Wright designed more than 700 buildings around the world.

The most famous included the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo, the Guggenheim Museum in New York and Price Tower in Battlesville, Okla.

In 1948 the American Institute of Architects named him the 15th winner in 42 years of its gold medal "for distinguished service to the advancement of the art and the profession of architecture."

But there was no love lost between Wright and members of the institute. Some of his sharpest barbs were reserved for his fellow architects.

He once described the institute as "the American institute of appearances" and on another occasion declared, "The only thing wrong with architecture is architects."

HATED CITIES

He didn't like cities. He called them "vampires living on the fresh blood of the countryside and villages, sterilizing humanity. Urban apartment developments were 'nothing but sanitary slums'."

He called government buildings in Washington "stone quarries erected to satisfy a grandomania as insatiable as it is insignificant."

At an early stage in his career he called skyscrapers "molechs raised for the commercial exploitation of the man in the street."

But in August, 1956, Wright proposed a 510-storey, mile-high skyscraper on the Chicago lakefront.

FIRE ABOARD CARRIER ARK ROYAL

DEVONPORT, England (AP)—Fire broke out today in the boiler room of Britain's biggest aircraft carrier, the Ark Royal.

The 43,000-ton carrier was undergoing refit here when smoke began pouring from below decks and great blisters erupted in the vessel's paintwork.

Eight dockyard workers and four sailors were taken to hospital after collapsing in the fumes. They were discharged later.

Three fire pumps brought the blaze under control. An admiralty spokesman said it was believed some oil had caught fire.

WE KNOW TONIGHT

Stand-Pat Budget Possible

Special to The Times

OTTAWA—Last minute speculation on the federal budget is that there may not be any major tax boosts after all.

Finance Minister Fleming goes before the Commons at 8 p.m. (5 p.m. PST) to make his budget address and is expected to reach the portions on taxes about 9 p.m. (6 p.m. PST).

In view of the $616 million deficit in the last fiscal year there has been speculation for weeks that a "jump" in income or other taxes might be necessary.

But observers today were suggesting Mr. Fleming may bank on expansion of the nation's economy during the coming year to produce the revenue necessary to overcome his deficit situation without making drastic changes in the tax structure.

Full details of the budget will appear in Friday's Times.

IN QUEBEC

Stock Ring Smashed

HULL, Que. (CP)—Quebec provincial police arrested five men in a raid Wednesday night on a home in nearby Pointe-Gatineau, Que., where police say was fully equipped for dealings in illegal stock operations.

Accompanied by Ottawa police, they seized a station wagon full of lists of potential customers, stock charts and reams of stock documents.

The five, who appeared in court here today and were remanded in custody, identified themselves as Roger Dufour, 44, Rimouski, Que., and Ludovic, 31, of St. Lawrence, Que., of Calgary; J. Oliver Moss, 30, of Vancouver and Ottawa; Saul Kohn, 33, Vancouver and Seattle, Wash., and Garfield Regan, 31, Vancouver.

Appeals Upheld

PRETORIA—South Africa (CP)—The Supreme Court has upheld appeals by 441 African Negro women against sentences imposed for taking part in a procession protesting the issue of identity books to African women. Fines of £10 were set aside on the grounds that a warning to disperse given by a police officer during last October's procession might not have been audible or intelligible to all the women.

(See story Page 3). Smallwood, wearing dark glasses, is met by reporters in Montreal Wednesday.

'WILL HEAR ANYONE'

Full U.K. Probe Into Nyasaland

LONDON (Reuters)—A government-appointed commission left today to inquire into the troubles in Nyasaland, which has been under a state of emergency since March 3.

The four-man commission, headed by High Court Justice Sir Patrick Devlin, will arrive in the Nyasaland capital of Zomba Saturday.

More than 50 Africans—but no whites—have been killed and hundreds of members of the African National Congress jailed since the state of emergency was declared. The government moved after an alleged plot to kill Europeans.

Devlin said at London airport that the commission will "see and hear anyone who has relevant evidence to give, whether they are detained or free."

He said he could not say whether Dr. Hastings Banda, leader of the Nyasaland African National Congress, would be giving evidence.

FAIRMONT, Minn. (AP)—It was program director Roger Hough's own idea to do a live report from the Red Cross bloodmobile for his radio station, KSUM, Wednesday.

As a nurse got him ready to donate a pint of blood, Hough began broadcasting to his listeners, telling them there was nothing to it.

"Everything's all right," he told the radio audience. "I ... ah ..."

Boy Beaten to Death By 12-Year-Old Pal

DETROIT (AP)—After an all-night search, 12-year-old Jeffrey Paxton was found beaten to death today in a garage back of his home in suburban Dearborn Township.

The boy had been hidden beneath a work bench by a neighbor boy who, deputy sheriffs said, admitted striking Jeffrey with a hammer because "he teased me."

Deputies quoted John Turner, 12, a junior high school classmate of Jeffrey, as saying, "He kept calling me names. I grabbed a hammer and hit him. I didn't mean to hurt him." Turner was booked for investigation.

JAPAN'S CINDERELLA STORY

See also Page 19

TOKYO (AP)—The pretty commoner marries her prince Friday in the climax to a storybook romance.

"I am passing each day wrapped in an indescribable state of tension," murmured 24-year-old Michiko Shoda as the hour of her tradition-shattering marriage to Crown Prince Akihito drew near.

An intelligent, high spirited girl unknown to Japan's millions less than five months ago, she is destined to ascend the 2,600-year-old chrysanthemum throne one day as Akihito's empress, the first commoner ever to do so.

She told reporters Wednesday night: "I am praying in my heart that I may be able to carry out, somehow, the heavy responsibilities that lie ahead without making any serious mistakes."

The crown prince, 25, and the wealthy flour miller's daughter will become man and wife at 10:13 a.m. (7:13 p.m. PST tonight).

At that moment they will sip sacred wine from shallow, unglazed cups in the Kashikodokoro, the Imperial Shinto shrine which houses the replica of an ancient mirror, one of the symbols of Japan's royalty.

Thousands of young Japanese girls, to whom Michiko is the embodiment of their post-war emancipation, at the same moment will marry in shrines and wedding halls throughout the country. Their eagerness to share in the romantic atmosphere of the day was whetted by the young prince's assurance that he is marrying for love even though his bride was nominated by imperial household officials in conformity with tradition.

Inside the moated, high-walled imperial palace in the centre of Tokyo each piece of stone and pebble at the entrance to the Shinto holy of holies has been washed and cleaned. Special precautions have been taken to banish any offending flies or insects.

The simple Shinto marriage ceremony will take 15 minutes. Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako will not take part. In accord with tradition, they will be officially told of the marriage by the young couple afterward.

Business taxes likewise were probably as high as possible. Imposition of local consumption taxes, such as sales taxes, was possible but difficult to administer.

Property taxes provided about 65 per cent of the municipalities' revenue. This was a fair tax in that a city's main services were provided to properties. But new services such as building schools and hospitals, though necessary, could not be legitimately charged property owners as service to property.

Average taxpayers in average communities already were burdened with costs of a high standard of living and with credit commitments.

Some municipalities were unable even to sell their bonds in the United States.

The brief was a follow-up to an informal federal municipal conference last October. The conference had asked whether municipalities were all having financial difficulties; whether they were fully using the sources of money now available to them; whether new fields for them to tax could be found, and whether federal and provincial governments are helping with grants.

Inflation, rising wages and salaries, rising standards of municipal services, and the rapid growth of urban areas had increased the cost of government, the brief said. Increases in property taxes, business and licence taxes, higher government aid and other revenues had offset these increases enough so that municipalities had been able to balance their budgets, but not to proceed with new projects.

(Times News Service)
MEMPHIS, Tenn.—I love you, I love you, I love you.

you. . . . That's what Harold L. Lemar was saying to pretty policewoman Rita Thompson when she interrupted with: "you're under arrest."

Their one-sided romance was aired in city court, where Lemar glumly argued against a charge of disorderly conduct. Mrs. Thompson told the court that Lemar simply wouldn't take no for an answer.

"He persists in visiting my home, calling me on the phone and approaching me on the street while I'm on duty," she said. "I'm tired of it."

"I guess I will just have to stifle my emotions and forget her," sighed Lemar.

Judge Beverly Bousche dismissed the charge.

TAUNTON, England—Lucky John Tempelman, 48, happily paid a 10-shilling fine for scaling a 180-foot church spire while drunk. "When Tempelman came down," a policeman told the court, "he was unable to stand without assistance."

LONDON—Prime Minister Macmillan has been stripped of his ranking as one of the best-dressed men in Britain.

It was withdrawn Tuesday when a published photograph of the prime minister returning to London from a weekend in Sussex showed him wearing a tweed cap, a sloppy three-quarter length topcoat, an unbuttoned suitcoat with a non-matching vest, and a shapeless flannel muffler.

ANDERSON, Ind.—Robert W. Beeman doesn't object to the use of his gravel pit driveway as a lover's lane, but he has decided to set some ground rules.

Beeman ran an advertisement in the Anderson Bulletin setting these rules at the pit: "Participants park on the right, spectators on the left. During daylight hours, VATICAN CITY—Pope John told an audience of 8,000 women of many nationalities here Wednesday that "women are the stronger sex." He expressed the view in a brief address on the role of women in modern society.

LONDON—A dental magazine said Wednesday teeth last longer if you keep your mouth shut.

The British Dental Journal's article on teeth erosion said "persons having prominent teeth are more likely to be affected" of those workers exposed to particular acid dangers.

"It has been observed that more talkative workers suffer most since their teeth are frequently exposed than those of their 'listening' colleagues. It may be assumed that habitual mouth-breathers are also more susceptible."

VANCOUVER—Charles Gower, president of the Teamsters' Union joint council here, said Wednesday the council has instructed its legal advisers to prepare suits against two Vancouver firms under the new Trades Union Act.

Mr. Gower declined to name the companies involved and said it will be out a month before any action is taken.

"Our policy will be to sue any companies that take action which causes financial loss to our members," he said.

It was reported that one of the suits involved the laying off of union members. MOTORIST KILLED—Wilmer Munroe Fawcett, 65, of Vancouver, was killed Wednesday when his car careened off a cliff and into Yellow Lake, midway between Keremeos and Penticton. The car was recovered from 15 feet of water.

INDIAN CHIEF BURIED—A funeral service was held here Wednesday in St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral for Robert Jeffery Stewart, 84, chief of the Nishga Indian nation. He died last Friday.

Born at Kinkolth on the Nass River, he had lived here for the last 16 years. He devoted his life to the betterment of his people, particularly as president of the Nishga land committee which has staged a long battle with the federal government for recognition of Indians' rights.

As a fisherman he worked for the ABC Packing Company from 1906 until his retirement in 1934.

CAR SNOOZE FATAL—Melvin Donald Langerak, 23, of Whalley, B.C., was killed early today when his car rolled down a 50-foot embankment off the Louheed Highway. Police said they believe the man went to sleep at the wheel of his car. He had been dead for several hours when his body was found at 6 a.m.

MINER KILLED—PRINCE RUPERT—Albert Apollon, 39-year-old employee of the Torbit Silver Mines Company at Alice Arm was killed Tuesday when trapped in a snowslide near the mine entrance.

HIGHWAY PROPOSED—PRINCE GEORGE—Provincial Liberal Leader Arthur Laing proposed here the construction of a highway between Fort Simpson, Northwest Territories, and Fort Nelson, B.C.

"This is the only way for B.C. to take part in the rich Mackenzie River trade," he said in an interview. "Edmonton industry, doing $15,000,000 a year business from the Mackenzie and, expanding by the week, is laughing at us."

BILLY GRAHAM
... ends crusade

'Do Not Disturb' Churches

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters)—American Evangelist Billy Graham complained today that some churches act as though they had a "do not disturb" sign posted on their front doors.

"This is true in the United States," he said, "although I do not know if this is the case in New Zealand."

Graham, who was ending a six-day crusade here, said he had spoken to more people in New Zealand than in any other week of his ministry.

He added that it would take two to three years to judge the success of the crusade because it takes newcomers that long "to grow in spiritual things."

Argentina To Order Reds Out

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The government is about to expel four more Communist diplomats on charges of stirring up industrial unrest.

Reliable sources said Wednesday that President Arturo Frondizi's government also is asking the Soviet Union and Romania to remove the heads of their diplomatic missions.

The campaign to weed out foreign Red agents follows riots in the heart of the capital last Friday, when police fought demonstrators protesting the economic and labor policies of President Frondizi. The government said one of the agitators behind the riots was Soviet embassy counselor Nikolai Belou, who Tuesday was given 48 hours to get out of the country.

'Unusual Procedure' CCFer Tells Commons

(From Times News Services)

OTTAWA—It was for the Commons—and even more so for a government—"somewhat unusual procedure."

That's how W. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West) described Transport Minister Hees request Wednesday that the Commons postpone action on the government's proposed shipping legislation.

Mr. Hees asked for the delay until he can visit Washington to discuss pilotage with American officials, evidently in the hope the U.S. can be persuaded to adopt Canada's approach to the problem.

The bill would, among other things, empower the federal cabinet to decide where pilotage should be compulsory in the St. Lawrence Seaway and Great Lakes.

Apparently remarks by Lionel Chevrier (L-Montreal-Laurier), former transport minister and president of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, played a part in the decision to delay the bill.

In a speech Tuesday night, he pointed out that the U.S. has not yet made up its mind on this matter. He said that instead of going ahead on its own, Canada should hold off and try to work out an agreement with the U.S. first.

Mr. Chevrier expressed concern that by passing such legislation at this stage, Canada might play into the hands of seaway opponents who would like to see compulsory pilotage used as another means of raising seaway costs to prohibitive levels.

Action Praised By Opposition

Mr. Hees won plaudits with his concession to the Opposition.

Mr. Herridge said he wanted to "compel the minister on what we consider a very wise response to representations from the Opposition." Mr. Chevrier praised the minister, too.

Mr. Hees, in asking for adjournment of the debate, said Mr. Chevrier suggested Tuesday night there should be a firm basis of agreement with the U.S. on Great Lakes pilotage before Canadian legislation on the matter is passed.

In debate on three government's proposed $20,000,000 freight rate subsidy, Mr. Chevrier said it will cover a very limited range of traffic.

U.S. Jobless Demand Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—More than 5,000 delegates wound up an AFL-CIO jobless rally Wednesday with a demand that the Democratic Congress begin immediate consideration of measures to restore full employment.

The throng jamming the National Guard Armory passed a resolution saying Congress should "wait no longer for administration leadership" in putting over measures to aid idle workers.

A series of speakers criticized President Eisenhower on grounds he is complacent in the face of unemployment numbering 4,362,000.

There were allusions to Eisenhower's golf playing and a suggestion from a Pennsylvania woman delegate that Eisenhower quit his present Augusta, Ga., golfing vacation and inspect the jobless plight.

Senator Paul Douglas (Dem., Illinois), chairman of the Senate-House of Representatives economic committee, said he was afraid Eisenhower had become insulated by "comfortable bureaucrats and rich millionaires who play golf and bridge with him and let him shoot pheasants on their estates . . . a captive of hard-faced men who know exactly what they want."

John D. Won't Bully Me' —Smallwood

By DAVE MCINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — "The prime minister of Canada is not going to bully me," Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland said Wednesday at a press conference.

He accused prime minister Diefenbaker of "dereliction of duty" in not filling the vacancy on the three-member Newfoundland Supreme Court and of "bullying" tactics for insisting that a Newfoundland act creating a fourth judge be proclaimed before the present vacancy is filled.

"I'm not going to try to be prime minister of Canada and he (Mr. Diefenbaker) can't act as the premier of Newfoundland," Mr. Smallwood said at the 2 1/2-hour press conference.

HAVE NO QUARREL. "We have no quarrel with the federal government but they have with us. 'We are trying to be modest little Canadians but the federal government rips up two contracts with us and breaches the constitution. What are we supposed to do?"

Asked whether he would meet Mr. Diefenbaker here, Mr. Smallwood said: "I have no business with him and I have no powerful urge to call on him socially."

AWAITING ADVICE. Asked whether Newfoundland would take court action on its claim that Ottawa has breached the Canadian constitution under Article 29 of the 1949 Canada - Newfoundland terms of union, Mr. Smallwood said his government is awaiting receipt of advice on what, if any, action, legal or otherwise, Newfoundland can take.

He declined to say whether his trip to London is connected with this. The premier leaves for London today via New York. He said only the trip "has to do with the business of the government of Newfoundland."

Mr. Smallwood said Canada under Article 29 should pay Newfoundland $8,000,000 a year in special grants for the duration of Canada's constitution.

Mr. Diefenbaker recently announced that these special grants under Article 29 will be stopped in 1962. A royal commission recommended that they go on indefinitely.

Dealing with the loggers' strike Mr. Smallwood said the provincial government defied the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) because the union was responsible, though not in law, for illegal acts by union members.

Earlier, the House gave second reading, approval in principle, to a bill substituting parliamentary assistants to cabinet ministers.

Opposition Leader Pearson criticized the provision that appointments of 16 secretaries—at a salary of $4,000-a-year—would be for only a year. It would be possible to rotate the appointments among many government members.

"Isn't this some kind of political scholarship?" he asked.

At a later point, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said there is no question of the jobs being rotated.

Double Standard For Indians

VANCOUVER (CP)—Frank

Anfield, B.C. deputy commissioner for Indian affairs, says a double standard is used in estimating crime rate among Indians.

"What people call the high crime rate among Indians is actually caused by a misdeed factor," he said in an address Tuesday. "That is, about 80 per cent of Indian crimes are things a white man is allowed to do."

Mr. Anfield said the answer to the problem is not "building bigger and better jails but to help the Indian become integrated."

BAGHDAD COUP FEARED

'Another Korea' Threat Posed by Reds in Iraq

NEW YORK (AP)—A Communist attempt to seize control of Iraq by naked force has become a distinct possibility.

If that happens, something in the nature of another Korea also is possible.

The threat of a Communist coup in Baghdad becomes more real with persistent reports of an infusion of armed Kurds from the Soviet Union, plus an Iraqi decision to arm civilian units known as the "people's resistance."

Because Iraq has no borders with any Communist-ruled country, a forcible Red seizure of its government would be a departure from past practice. Up to now, armed Communism has not leaped over land barriers.

But the elements for such a leap are present. Also present are the makings of a situation not unlike that in Korea nine years ago.

TROOPS MASSING

Troops of Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic, according to Turkish reports, already have taken up positions in northern Syria near the Iraqi frontier. Shammar tribesmen, who supported the recent pro-Nasser revolt in north Iraq and as a result had to flee the country, are reported massed in an area roughly 50 miles from the Iraqi border.

The fierce cold war between Nasser's UAR (Egypt and Syria) and the Iraqi regime of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem could easily turn into a hot war, even a Moslem "jihad," or holy war.

A military clash would be a prelude to an attempt by pro-Nasser forces to install a rival government in Iraq.

The spark for the clash also could be a Communist takeover in Baghdad. The tools for the takeover could be a nucleus of tough, heavily-armed Kurds from the USSR and the street militia.

ARMED MOB

Ostensibly the militia is supposed to train for guerrilla warfare in the event the country is threatened from outside. Actually it is a handy weapon of political control through intimidation should the need arise.

The arming of this group in Iraq came in response to strident demands of the increasingly powerful left, dominated by the Communists. With this weapon and the added support of Soviet Kurds, the Communists could hope to seize Iraq. A Communist regime would be implanted in an oil-producing Middle East.

Such a development would bring a violent reaction in the Arab east—even perhaps an armed clash between Nasser forces and those of the Iraqi regime. If such a chain of events should bring a threat of Moscow intervention, a new Korea, even more dangerous than the last, might be in the making.

Cheap Japanese Goods

THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT will pay a subsidy of $450 a ton on Alberta and British Columbia coal sold to Japan this year, 50 cents more than it paid last year. We are going to sell coal cheap, below the market price, at the cost of the taxpayers in order to keep our miners at work.

This may be wise but at the same time the Government is alarmed by cheap Japanese goods entering our market. It is all right, apparently, for us to sell cheap in Japan but all wrong for Japan to sell cheap here.

Accordingly, the Government has instructed its officials to investigate at first hand the cost of producing Japan's exports in case they may be "dumped" in the Canadian market, as we are certainly "dumping" coal in Japan. Since the Government is empowered by its new customs legislation to declare any imports "dumped" as it pleases, some new restrictions on Japanese imports can be foreseen.

The argument for such restrictions, as usual, will be that imports put Canadians out of work. The latest official figures make nonsense of that argument.

By subsidizing coal exports the Government will keep relatively few miners at work. Our large sales of other things besides coal to Japan keep many more Canadians at work. Last year our sales to Japan were valued at $104,890,593. Our purchases from Japan totaled $70,215,951. We enjoyed a surplus of $34,674,642 in this business.

Yet the Government is thinking about restrictions on Japanese goods as if we were suffering a deficit.

Japan has to pay us in dollars for everything it buys here. It is not earning enough dollars from us to pay its current bill and must earn them somewhere else in a highly-competitive world market.

If we reduce our purchases from Japan we may be sure that it will reduce its purchases from us (though not in the case of coal so long as we sell it cheap with a taxpayer's subsidy). And if Japan reduces its purchases from us many Canadian workers will be unemployed.

We always hear about the difficulties of manufacturers in the protected regions of central Canada. We don't often hear about the thousands of Canadians who, directly or indirectly, owe their living to Japan's imports.

We always hear, especially from the present Government, that it is dangerous to commit most of our trade to the single market of the United States. But when we do business with an overseas country like Japan—where we must buy if we are to sell—a great cry of protest goes up, the spectre of cheap imports is raised and our manufacturers complain of unfair competition.

Except for a few special products we are rapidly approaching a position where we can sell little outside the United States. To sell coal in Japan we must subsidize it and, in the next breath, we talk about Japanese "dumping."

The Government must make up its mind whether it wants a larger Japanese market or not. If it does, we must import more Japanese goods. If it doesn't, we can quickly restrict that market by reducing our imports. But in that case what is the use of subsidizing our exports of coal?

A Revolution In Power?

WITH THE CONVERSION OF atomic power directly into electrical power, as announced this week from Ann Arbor, Michigan, man may have crossed a watershed in his history. There may be opened to him relatively soon the full realization of abundant, inexpensive power that could create a social, economic and political revolution on earth.

Heretofore the heat of nuclear reaction has been used to convert water to steam and thus drive turbines and generators which produced electricity. The process, while it had some advantages over the use of coal, was essentially the same in principle as that of conventional steam plants. Scientists sought continually for some means of directly converting one form of energy—atomic—into another form—electric. Their efforts, on a laboratory scale at least, have now been successful.

The way is discovered; there remains only to improve it, enlarge it, apply it and make it inexpensive. These are matters of technique rather than discovery, and it is not overly optimistic to look for early development of this tremendous scientific advance.

The repercussions could be equally tremendous, and even in its present stage the new discovery raises questions of prime importance. If cheap, easily transportable, nuclear-electric power is to be made available in this generation, what will this mean to existing costly hydro-electric installations? What will it mean to hydro projects now in the planning stage—the Columbia, Peace, Fraser River proposals, to bring it right home to British Columbia?

Should such programs be made to mark time while the new discovery is assessed by experts? Are such huge investments justified when they conceivably could be rendered obsolete within a few years of completion?

Obviously it is too early yet to predict the effects of direct nuclear-electric conversion. But equally obviously, immediate attention should be given to the new situation that has been created. We may be on the edge of something far greater than we know.

Elk Lake Skiing

Why are the officials of Saanich and the Parks Board so much against the use of Elk Lake for supervised water skiing; a natural body of water which should be for the use of everyone connected with water sports?

A dividing line could be made between swimmers and skiers, and a stiff penalty imposed on those breaking the rule of endangering the swimmers and bathers. It would be unfair to pass judgment against all skiers because of the carelessness of a few.

In any organized club such as ours, the members must obey the rules laid down in the club's constitution promoting safety and good sportsmanship. Non-observance of any of the above requirements jeopardizes membership.

We would like to have it known that the Victoria Aqua Ski Club will be only too willing to meet any public organization to discuss the problems of safety and control on the lakes.

Then There Was Shelley—

In the year 1811, Percy Bysshe Shelley, who later became one of the most brilliant English poets, was expelled from Oxford University for writing a pamphlet entitled "The Necessity of Atheism."

He was expelled for expressing a view contrary to that held by the majority—for professing to be an atheist instead of a Christian. Few persons today would agree that it was right to persecute an individual merely for holding an opinion contrary to, or even attacking, the beliefs that they held. Or would they? Because at UBC a group of individuals have been suspended for doing substantially the same thing.

The "goon" edition of the Ubysey satirized a Christian celebration—Easter. In principle, the editors of the Ubysey are being persecuted for attacking the Christians, one of the religious groups in our society.

Admittedly this particular group is in the majority, yet has any majority group the right, in a democratic society, to punish a minority for expressing views differing from their own? Does it make any difference whether you or I agree or disagree with these views expressed in the "goon" edition of the Ubysey?

Let us not forget what Voltaire, the French philosopher, said, "I do not agree with what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it." Neither should we forget that there have been fought over the right of an individual or a group to hold any or no religious belief. It seems that this right still has not been won. Men have also made great sacrifices for the freedom of the press. It is surely an attack on the principles of the freedom of the press, freedom of religion, and of minority rights to maintain that these persons should be punished for holding a point of view that attacks another point of view (Christianity), even if we ourselves or the majority of others are Christians.

I would be ashamed to admit that we have not yet won freedom of opinion or that we have not progressed a long way towards toleration since that day, nearly 150 years ago, when Shelley was expelled from Oxford. I would be ashamed to admit that it could happen here.

Skating Through Church

I notice in Wednesday's Times of April 1, "Skating Tests Saturday and Sunday."

There are 144 hours a week of six days and the skating club has to encroach on the seventh day, the Sabbath, for its competitions, and that at church times, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Seeing that all the city's offices and works are closed Sundays, the Arena which is the city's property, should, in my opinion, be closed on Sundays also.

Helping the Children

Would you please give a little space in your paper to say "thank you" to the devoted firemen who give so generously of their time to drive the Bunny Buses for handicapped children. They would be the last to want special mention and that in itself makes one want to say it.

When we bought our Easter Seals we gave our annual contribution to these unfortunate little ones while the good men give daily.

We know they find their reward in the smile and unmatched friendship of the children they serve, but perhaps it will give them added encouragement to know that their work is admired and appreciated by those of us on the outside too.

Two Small Boys in Springtime

AS I was digging my land yesterday two small boys arrived to remind me that I didn't own it at all. Despite my large payments in cash and more than three decades of labor, the land was owned by this pair of urchins, brothers, as I guessed, each with two front teeth missing and not yet replaced. My new neighbors, as has happened through several previous generations of small boys, had taken full possession of my property. I could dig it and pay the taxes, if I could find the money; they could enjoy it in ultimate proprietorship.

THIS they proceeded to do by picking the first white lilies in the hedge-row, exploring the oak woods and laying the dangerous foundations of the usual fort in a conveniently gnarled oak tree.

But with a rare touch of kindness and condescension, they paused in their proprietary enjoyment to converse briefly with the old man bent over the shovel. They had begun their exploration of the human species which is not as interesting, of course, as their exploration of spring and will take much longer, a lifetime at least, and even then the subject will be dimly understood.

"WHAT are you doing Mister Man?" the elder boy inquired politely from behind a holly bush where, if I turned hostile, he could beat a safe retreat.

I told him I was planting early potatoes.

"What for?" he asked with the hard logic of the young.

"To eat," I said. It was a lie, of course, but there are some truths one can't explain to small boys. Maybe in 40 years they would understand that a man can buy better potatoes at a lower price but needs an occasional touch of reality in this world of shadows, even if it is only a small seed potato planted by his own hands.

As I sprinkled fertilizer down the furrow the smaller lad posed, without knowing it, the supreme question of this or any other spring.

"What," he said, "makes potatoes grow?"

"The chemical industry," I replied. "The scientists figured that out long ago. They haven't quite made a potato yet, being busy with certain other chemical combinations, but no doubt they will in time. The perfected, atomic potato lies just ahead of us."

THIS explanation didn't seem to impress the new owners. The senior partner asked me what made the pink flowers grow on the peach tree beside me.

"Like the potatoes," I said, "the flowers are just a combination of chemical elements. All growth is just chemistry."

"Gosh, that's funny," said the junior partner.

"Also ridiculous," I said but he ignored me to inquire about the bees then swarming in the blossom. What, he demanded, were the bees doing?

"The bees," I said, "pollinate the blossoms and that makes the peaches, and the bees take home the nectar and make honey. A perfect economic system. In fact, quite a clever arrangement when you come to think of it. It's almost as efficient as a democratic government and a welfare state."

"Oh," said the senior partner, observing in me those symptoms of madness which the young always unerringly detect in the old. "But what makes the bees fly around like that?"

"Arrested evolution," I said. "They didn't evolve, like us, to a high intelligence. They don't know how to do anything but work. We're too smart for that."

"You're working," said the junior partner skeptically.

"Same reason," I said. "Arrested evolution."

"Are the bees happy?" the senior demanded with his sure grasp of essentials.

"Oh, very happy," I assured him. "That's because they haven't got our intelligence."

"Are you happy, too?"

"Deliriously happy," I said, sweating and groaning over my shovel. Yet there was a trace of truth in my answer, a faint trace.

"That's funny," the junior repeated.

"WHAT you see in that peach tree," I said, glad to pause for a moment and lean on my shovel, "is a process called symbiosis. The peach tree depends on the bees. The bees depend on the peach tree. And man depends on both. Man is in symbiosis with nature but he's the first creature to engage in symbiotic union with a machine. A queer, chilly union don't you think? He used to be satisfied with honey, peaches and potatoes. Now he's in symbiosis with a certain bomb."

"Gosh, that's funny," the junior said again.

"You have a precocious sense of humor," I said.

The owners of my property were getting bored by now. They faded into the woods but I knew they were watching me curiously.

"He's crazy all right," I heard the junior say.

"Poor old guy," the senior observed with the sympathy of his greater age. "I bet he's a hundred years old anyway."

"I bet he's two hundred," said the junior.

"The way I felt over the shovel, it was a reasonable estimate."

AN EYE-WITNESS REPORT FROM EUROPE

A Proposal Which Reflects the New Realities: A United Nations Charter for Berlin

(Third of four articles)

THE preceding articles have made the point that for the indefinite future the two German states cannot be reunited in one German state with its capital in Berlin. There will be the German Federal Republic of the West with its capital at Bonn. And there will be the German Democratic Republic of the East with its capital at Pankow, which is a part of East Berlin. These two German states now deal with one another in many economic and technical matters. Thus, for example, for some considerable time West German traffic to West Berlin has been controlled by the East German government. With the assent of Bonn it exercises the right not only to stamp the identification papers but actually to inspect the cargoes.

There is every reason to suppose that there will be an increasing intercourse and communication between the two German states. But they do not recognize each other as legal and legitimate sovereign states.

We must, therefore, accept the fact that for years to come—might be for a generation or more—these two German states will have to live side by side with a frontier on the line fixed by the armistice which ended the Second World War.

From the frontier of East Germany to the city of Berlin is a distance of 110 miles. The basic problem is how to protect the future of the West Berlin community, which consists of two and a half million people. They must expect to live for an indefinite future, perhaps for the rest of their lives, in the heart of a Communist state.

In my view, the future of West Berlin cannot be secured adequately by a determination to stand firm on a policy of standing pat. No doubt we can prevent the Soviet Union and the East German governments from blockading West Berlin. We can threaten to go to war if they do. But that is not good enough.

West Berlin lies in a strategic trap, and its security cannot be protected adequately by military measures alone. It can be secured against blockade and outright aggression. But it cannot be made secure against harassment and a perpetual war of nerves and the feeling that there is no hope.

Highly Complicated

West Berlin is a highly complicated economic and political community. It enjoys the institution of private property. There is free enterprise in investment and in banking and in the management of capital.

If the division of Germany is to last for the indefinite future, we must find ways to provide the West Berlin community with a dependable order of things. We cannot expect the West Berliners to depend for their whole security upon what over the course of a generation or more we may be able and willing to do with our Strategic Air Force.

The West Berliners cannot go on for years waiting to hear what the Pentagon will say about going to war whenever an East German official harasses them. There has already been some considerable flight of capital since the Khrushchev note of last November, and the economy of West Berlin will wither if, whenever there is a sign of trouble, the best we can do for it is to threaten Third World War.

My conviction is that the future of West Berlin must be protected not by standing pat but our insisting that West Berlin needs and is entitled to have a new statute.

Possible Improvement

When Mr. K. tells us that the present status of Berlin is obsolete, it is a mistake for the West to act as if any departure from the status quo would be a defeat and surrender. It might be an improvement.

At present the status quo is from our point of view extremely unsatisfactory. The right answer to Mr. K. is to propose that we negotiate a new charter or statute in which West Berlin is guaranteed an ordered future by the presence of Western troops acting under international auspices.

A new statute for Berlin is needed because the existing arrangements were improvised, rather incompetently, by men who regarded them as temporary. Nobody planned them for a long future. Nobody supposed that there would be two German states with Berlin in the middle of one of them.

Only last week we had an example of how ramshackle are our agreements about access to Berlin, when Soviet fighters buzzed an American plane, which was flying, apparently for the first time, above the customary ceiling of 10,000 feet.

In negotiating a new statute, we should begin by establishing the principles under which we have a right to be present in West Berlin and to participate in determining its future. For some extraordinary reason we have chosen to argue that our rights in Berlin rest upon the right of conquest. That is, if I may say so, a poor reason for the defenders of civilization to invoke.

If we choose to stand on the right of conquest, we shall live to regret it. It will boomerang. For where would we be if the Soviet Union, which is also a conqueror of Germany, choose to invoke for itself the right of conquest? The whole of Germany was surrendered to the conquerors, and if there is a right of conquest, it is not limited to West Berlin.

There is no need for us to resort to so primitive and brutal and repellent a principle as the right of conquest. We have good and sufficient civilized reasons for being in Berlin and for remaining there.

Until Reunification

We are in Berlin because it is the capital of Germany. We are entitled to stay there until it is once again the seat of a united German government.

During our stay in Berlin we have in the course of time acquired a special moral obligation to the two and a half million inhabitants of West Berlin. This obligation we intend to honor and we could well say to Mr. K. that he would despise us as we would ourselves if we did not honor it.

For us, negotiation must start from these two fundamentals: the need for a long future of steadfastness and stability, and the need for a change which reflects the new realities. This can best be done if a new statute is negotiated in which the future of Berlin is put in trust with the United Nations.

The new charter or statute should begin with an explicit declaration that the United Nations trust will last until the two German states agree to restore Berlin as the capital of a reunited Germany.

Then, in the new statute the right of access, the conditions of co-existence, the relations between the two Berlins and the two Germanys, the presence of Allied and United Nations token military forces, should be spelled out. Though it is a complicated thing to do, it is not an impossible thing to establish a city within a city and within a foreign state.

Striking Example

The most striking example, which could well be used as a suggestive model, is the treaty signed in 1929 between the Holy See and the Kingdom of Italy. This was the Lateran Treaty which established Vatican City.

The State of the Vatican is a quite separate sovereign juridical entity although it is in fact entirely surrounded by the Italian city of Rome. The treaty regulates the whole problem of access across Italian territory, and it does so with a precision which anyone must envy who knows something of the fuzziness of our position in Berlin.

I think I have reason to say that a solution of this sort would be acceptable in West Berlin. Whether the Russians would accept it there is no way of knowing until we try to negotiate it in concrete terms. But the signs are not altogether unfavorable.

Mr. K. has mentioned the UN in connection with Berlin, he has acknowledged that the West has rights and obligations in Berlin, and he has not rejected the idea of a Western military presence.

Both sides have much to gain from such a settlement. For us it would mean that the West Berlin community was guaranteed physical security under a new and much more authoritative statute than exists today. It would mean also that the future was not foreclosed, and that the prospect of Berlin's becoming again the capital of Germany would be reaffirmed with the sanction of the world society.

The West Berliners would have a reason for carrying on. For they would have hope, which, in affairs of this sort, is as important as hydrogen bombs.

The Russians for their part would get a good deal too. They would get, as we would get, the relief that comes from straightening out a dangerous muddle. They would get a provisional but durable acceptance of the fact that there are two Germanys.

Stabilize Situation

Since a United Nations statute would have to be agreed to both by the Soviet Union and by the Pankow government, they would get a de facto recognition of the East German state by the UN. This might mean much to them in that it would help to stabilize their situation in Eastern Europe.

Neither side would "win." But neither would "lose." Each side would hold within its sphere of influence what it now holds, and neither would surrender to the other any territory or any people.

But we would get a new legal, political, and moral foundation and framework which takes account of the hard facts of life that there will long be two Germanys and that Berlin must be protected in a special way while Germany remains divided.

Greengage Summer

I AM SO GRATEFUL to the unknown reader who told me that I must, simply must, read "Greengage Summer" by Rumer Godden.

I read it during my week off from column writing, and, with high moral purpose but not much inclination, I have now returned it to the friend who loaned it to me.

Rumer Godden's novels are too well-known to need an assist from me, but perhaps some column readers have missed "Greengage Summer" until now.

It's the story of five English children whose mother takes them to France for a summer holiday. Through the sudden illness of the mother, these five children, very different from one another and very vividly described, are stranded in a hotel near a little town on the river Marne.

Afterwards, the children always think of this queer summer as the Greengage summer, and the second girl, Cecil, tells the story of it.

It's a strange story, for through the beauty of the oldest girl, Joss, the children are the cause of a tragic, rather sordid episode among the grownups at the hotel.

There's lust and passion in the story, and loneliness and jealousy. But the book is beautiful. It's serious and gay, written with wit and delicacy, and what I'd call a profound compassion that stems from a sensitive understanding of human experience.

I read it first for the story. Then I read it again for the quality of the writing style. The writing is so tight that, in my opinion, the book should be read at least twice to appreciate the craftsmanship. I read it four times and each time I found something new to admire and marvel at.

The writing is bare, very bare, but, somehow, Rumer Godden packs into a single paragraph the atmosphere and force that many of the 19th century novelists would have taken 10 pages of description to express.

I felt exactly as if I, too, had had a Greengage summer. I could see it all—the hotel, its entrance and its office, its garden and the door in the wall by the river. I knew the people, really knew them. I went down to the hot sandy cove by the river. I visited the cathedral when Joss lifted little Vicky up to see the jewels in the Virgin's crown. I was Eliot and I was Cecil when Eliot put his hands on Cecil's shoulders and looked at Joss holding Vicky.

I was there, right there, when Eliot and the children had their magic day wandering in the forest of Compiègne. I walked down the long avenues and glades of beech trees. I saw the soft green light filtering through the branches and flickering gently on the ground.

I saw the restaurant in the forest, the patisserie with the marble-topped tables, the dreadful lavatory the children called "The Hole."

As I read the book, I was part of it, completely part of it. And, with each reading, the sense of "being there" increased.

I should like to commend this book to anyone who enjoys brilliant writing, vivid atmosphere, and the queer feeling that comes when we are lifted right out of ourselves and taken to a place which for a long time will be more real than the places we have visited in the flesh.

Nary a Touchdown

LONDON—Having radically changed the rules of rugby football last year to try and make it brighter, the rugby bosses are now faced with agitation for the rules to be altered further. Reason for this is that as regards the international contests the game has reached a strange sort of stalemate.

The England team has finished its schedule for this season with a unique record. Throughout all their games they have been unable to score a try (touchdown).

From that one would presume that they are a poor team and at the bottom of the league. Not a bit of it. Currently they are joint leaders of the competition, and when the other teams have finished their schedules England will probably be second in the final placings.

How can a team achieve this without once crossing their opponents' goal line for a touchdown? They've done it all with penalty kicks.

The rugby fans at Twickenham, England's home ground, have this season been thoroughly frustrated at not seeing a single touchdown scored either by England or her opponents. England's five games in a row without one is getting a bit tedious.

The object of the operation in rugby is to score touchdowns and it's what the fans pay to see. Why, then, this dearth of them? Rugger, sad to say, is suffering from the same sort of affliction as cricket. Defence has become the big thing. Teams are going out onto the field determined to prevent themselves from being beaten rather than being all out to win.

The present rules allow a team to adopt spoiling tactics, i.e., they can smother the opponents' passing movements as soon as they get possession of the ball. Suggested remedy is a rule change that will give the team in possession time and space in which to throw the ball about.

In technical language, for those of you who know rugger: Forwards would be prevented from advancing beyond the centre of the scrum until the ball is out on the other side.

And while we're on sport . . . England's cricket captain, Peter May, has arrived back from Australia with some of his players. They've been coming home in dribs and drabs—further evidence that these players who were so soundly beaten by the Aussies were never a closely-knit team.

Now that he's back, the cricket public are howling for Peter's scalp. So much so that he has had to publicly announce that rumors of his retirement are untrue. At only 28, why retire?

But the situation is a tricky one. Acknowledged as the world's best batsman, he has turned out to be one of England's worst captains ever. Can the cricket bosses bring themselves to ask him to stay on the England team as a player and put somebody over his head as a new captain?

Definitely not cricket—so it seems England will be stuck with likeable, ineffectual Peter as its captain.

MARKET SUMMARIES

5th Straight Loss In Toronto Trading

Industrials were the big losers as the Toronto stock market gave ground for the fifth straight session today in moderate mid-afternoon trading.

Greyhound Uranium was the most active issue, off 4 cents on a turnover of 345,000 shares.

The New York market milled unevenly in the slowest trading of the week.

Ford and American Motors were active and ahead fractionally.

AT TORONTO two industrial features. Brazilian Tractor gained 1/4 at 7 1/4 while Arcan Corp. added 1/4 at 52 1/4.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Most prices rallied late in the session to post advances today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included 515,000 bushels for Japan and 40,000 for the U.K.

Lakehead prices for class two, TWA and domestic wheat all were 1/4 cent higher.

MARKET SUMMARIES

5th Straight Loss In Toronto Trading

Industrials were the big losers as the Toronto stock market gave ground for the fifth straight session today in moderate mid-afternoon trading.

Greyhound Uranium was the most active issue, off 4 cents on a turnover of 345,000 shares.

The New York market milled unevenly in the slowest trading of the week.

Ford and American Motors were active and ahead fractionally.

AT TORONTO two industrial features. Brazilian Tractor gained 1/4 at 7 1/4 while Arcan Corp. added 1/4 at 52 1/4.

B.C. Airlines Sold To Edmonton Firm

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sale of B.C. Air Lines to Northwest Industries Ltd. of Edmonton was announced Wednesday. No price was announced.

F. G. Winspear, Northwest Industries president, said there will be no disruption or curtailment of B.C. Air Lines' present service.

Purchase included 21 amphibious aircraft and a new hangar, complete with servicing shops and other facilities, at the Vancouver International Airport.

B.C. Air Lines operates third and fourth-class services to numerous Vancouver Island and coastal settlements. Northwest Industries is the only wholly Canadian-owned and-operated plant engaged in repair, modification and overhaul of aircraft for the RCAF.

Junior Leaguers From Vancouver To See Solarium

Twenty-five members of the Thetis Chapter, Solarium Junior League, Vancouver, will fly to Victoria next Sunday to inspect the new Solarium on Arbutus Road, Gordon Head.

They will be met at Pat Bay Airport by Mrs. Shirley Duncan, president of the Solarium, and other local members, and taken by chartered bus to the Glenis Hotel for lunch.

The Solarium tour will then follow.

COLUMBIA AGREEMENT MOVES A STEP CLOSER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The International Joint Commission has taken another step toward an agreement on Columbia River problems, it was announced Wednesday.

The commission's co-chairman, Douglas McKay of the United States, and Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton of Canada, said the commission now has agreed on a basis for considering a first draft of principles.

Liquor 'Pitch' in School Texts?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Liquor interests are trying to plant slanted textbooks in schools to recruit new drinkers, an official of the Women's Christian Temperance Union said today.

Mrs. Fred J. Tooze, speaking at the convention of the National Association of Evangelicals, said texts backed by the Licensed Beverage Industries contend that ill from alcohol result from excessive drinking only.

And, she said, these books imply that moderate use of alcohol is accepted by "all who are tolerant, informed and socially at ease."

"They do not explain, however, that all the 5,000,000 alcoholics currently in the country started out to be moderate drinkers and gradually surrendered to the habit-forming effects of the beverages."

Long Milk Storage With New Process

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — Albert Liebrechts, 42, says he has developed a new pasteurization process that will revolutionize the dairy industry. Mr. Liebrechts, former dairy inspector in The Netherlands and now assistant manager of an Oshawa dairy, claims the new process would allow whole milk to be kept for months without refrigeration.

'Worrying' Key to Success

BY HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

A man who has sold well over

$20,000,000 worth of insurance Wednesday told Victoria underwriters the key to his success is "successful worrying."

Can't beat it if you want to make money and avoid ulcers along the way, Jack Nussbaum said.

Malone

How does it work?

"Never worry about anything you can do nothing about," said Mr. Nussbaum. "If there is something I can do something about I do it. And then I have nothing to worry about."

Life underwriters from Victoria, Nanaimo and other Island points paid rapt attention to Mr. Nussbaum, to Hubert Davis of New York and to Les Dunstall of Toronto.

They merited it. Few people exceed this trio in experience and success. They have forgotten more about life insurance and selling techniques than many underwriters will learn in a lifetime.

From their lips came these pearls:

NUSSBAUM... "no single sales approach works because in two years everyone would have heard the same story... salesmen should develop their own presentation, romance their own ideas... you don't have to bring a hearse into a client's home to bring home your point but make sure you let him sniff the flowers."

"... a book could tell a client more about life insurance than any salesman could but salesmen are needed because people need to be assured—they don't like to make decisions."

"... nobody objects to owning life insurance—they just object to paying for it."

"... people don't buy what they need, they buy what they want... it's our job to paint those needs into wants."

"... selling is telling the truth in an attractive and honest manner."

"... I want to be known as a good life insurance salesman first and a grand guy second... you can't pay bills just by being a grand guy."

"... people like to hear nice things—tell them. I've been married 39 years and my wife likes to hear me tell her

I love her. I do but she still likes to hear me say it."

"... sometimes what you don't know helps you... I don't know that premiums are sold on anything but an annual basis and I don't want to know there are other ways."

"... we had a fellow in our office who sold $1,000,000 of insurance in his first 260 days in business... they wanted to bring him into the office for further training... they would have educated him from $1,000,000 in sales down to $400,000 a year in no time."

"... make your wife your partner... if you become successful your success will be doubly blessed."

DAVIS... "the difference between men and women is simple... women like a $5.99 bargain... men like round figures... a man doesn't like to pay a $78 annual premium but ask him if he could afford $100 worth of insurance at say, $10 a month, and he'll buy."

"... always get the cheque... remind people it is the customary thing to do... people like to follow custom... men who get to the top in any profession do the little things that are just as distasteful to them as they are to men who achieve nothing more than mediocre success."

DUNSTALL... "there is a tremendous potential if life insurance is presented as a means of saving and not as protection for dependents."

"... to set standards doesn't achieve recognition... to measure up to those standards is the means to greater public acceptance."

In the insurance industry, the height of financial success is admission to the Round Table. You get in only when you sell $1,000,000 of insurance in one year. Nussbaum has made it so many times they practically have a chair reserved for him. The first time was in 1943.

"It was tougher then than it

A 12-year-old boy was injured on Broad Street late Wednesday when his cycle ran into the back of a car.

U.S. Visitors Mostly From Washington

More than 185,800 cars bearing the licence plates of Washington State entered British Columbia during 1958, Recreation Minister Earle Westwood said today.

"This was more than 64 per cent of the total U.S. entries," Mr. Westwood said.

Figures indicate that weekend visits are popular with our Washington neighbors, while guests from further away tend to spend longer in the province.

Only 43 per cent of Washington tourists spent two or three days in B.C., whereas 65 per cent of the 44,383 cars from California entered on long-stay permits.

Oregon cars numbered 23,788 with 68 per cent extending their visits beyond the 72-hour period.

There were close to 6,000 entries from Idaho last year. Traffic from Arizona remained exactly the same as the year before—1,029 cars. Illinois and New York entries both came within a few cars of the 1957 total—1,836 from Illinois and 1,079 from New York.

"Our promotions are directed towards encouraging tourists to stay longer," Mr. Westwood said.

Esquimalt Police Pay Conciliators Named

E. G. Rowbottom, E. E. Pearlman and C. S. Burchill have been appointed members of a conciliation board to investigate a dispute between the Corporation of Esquimalt and the Esquimalt Police Union.

The parties are unable to agree on the 1959 salary schedule.

is now," he said. "In all Canada and the United States, only 100 of us made it. Now 1,000 get there every year."

To prove it was no fluke, Nussbaum repeated in 1944 and 1945. They gave him a life membership for it. To hear him tell it, there's nothing to it. Just as easy, you might say, as pitching a no-hit, no-run game, kidnapping Marilyn Monroe or water-skiing at Akilavik.

More than 120 delegates to the day-long sales congress at Holyrood House gave Ken Willis a standing ovation for his efforts as chairman of the Life Underwriters' Association training course. He stepped down in favor of Roy Mulholland... kudos go to John Wodell, president of Victoria life underwriters, for a smooth job of chairing the congress.

LONDON (Reuters) — A dozen racists Wednesday night hurled fireworks in London's Royal Albert Hall in a vain bid to break up a meeting staged to protest official methods of dealing with African unrest last month in Nyasaland.

Several ushers were reported injured in scuffles with the interlopers. One usher was kicked in the face before the demonstrators were evicted.

The meeting, staged by the Labor party, was addressed by leading churchmen and politicians who complained of the "repressive" measures used against Africans in Nyasaland.

Red China Trade Urged By Stevedores

SEATTLE (AP) — West Coast longshoremen Wednesday urged immediate trade with Red China after a union officer said such a policy is gaining public support.

The convention of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union unanimously adopted a resolution favoring trade with Communist China.

Louis Goldblatt, secretary-treasurer, said the union had been advocating this course for several years. He said public opinion now is catching up with the ILWU.

"Unless the United States does begin to trade with Red China we may be frozen out of the market in the future when it has been taken over by other countries," he said.

The $10,000 U.S. currency note—not in general circulation—has the portrait of Salmon P. Chase, treasury secretary in 1861.

FLYING FISH

Salmon Banquet For U.K. Newsmen

London newspapermen will sit down to a banquet of B.C. salmon and B.C. movies at the famous London Press Club, off Fleet Street, Friday.

A 25-pound salmon caught off the Pacific Coast has been flown to the club together with two movies produced by the B.C. government travel bureau—"Princess in Wonderland" and "Tight Lines."

Occasion is the first British Columbia Night to be held at the Press Club. Special guests will be B. M. Hoffmeister, E.C. Agent General in London, and four financial editors from Canada, including Paul Wright of Western Business.

"We hope the movies and the salmon will serve to make British Columbia better known to London newspapermen," a spokesman for the B.C. government travel bureau said today, "and they in turn will pass on their information to the British public."

The movie "Princess in Wonderland" is the travel bureau's official record of Princess Margaret's visit to B.C. last July.

"Tight Lines" is a documentary film on the B.C. fishing industry. Fourteen copies of it have already been circulated abroad by the National Film Board of Canada.

U.S. CUTTER PICKS UP RUSS SEAMAN

KODIAK, Alaska (AP)—An unidentified Russian seaman, injured four days ago in a fall aboard a Soviet boat in the Bering Sea, was transferred to the U.S. Coast Guard cutter Storis Wednesday night. The unconscious seaman will be taken by the Storis to Cold Bay, Alaska, and from there he will be flown 650 miles by Coast Guard plane to Anchorage for treatment. The extent of the seaman's injuries was not immediately known.

Boost for Coal Industry May Come From Japanese

OTTAWA (CP)—The chairman of the Dominion Coal Board says negotiations may start with Japan this fall that could lead to contracts for sale of "hundreds of thousands of tons" of Western Canada coal. W. E. Uren said in an interview Wednesday night that next November or December, Japan expects to place orders for large tonnages. "There is no question in our minds that after Japan has tested Canadian coal we will get orders," he added. The testing is to be done with some 140,000 tons of coal now being ordered by Japan from producers in the Crownsnest Pass area of Alberta and British Columbia. Mr. Uren said the second of an expected three orders for a total 100,000 tons of bituminous coking coal was received Wednesday. Additional orders are expected from Japan for 30,000 to 40,000 tons of semi-anthracite coal from the Cascade area near Banff, Alta. These sales follow announcement last week of a 50-cent increase to a maximum $4.50 a ton in the subvention—or transport subsidy—the federal government pays on Western Canada coal. Crownsnest producers had asked for the increase on the ground it would open the rich Japanese market to them. Mr. Uren said the booming Japanese steel industry will need increasing amounts of coking coal. During the next 10 years it would be importing perhaps 1,000,000 tons a year. "I expect Canada will get a good share of the market," he said. This could provide the shot in the arm needed to revive the sagging Crownsnest

HOT SUMMER BOOSTED REVENUE SURPLUS

City's Profit $126,139

Revenue surplus of $126,139 was run up by the city of Victoria last year. $152,000 estimated revenue. Total revenue of $7,400,054 less than anticipated to produce the surplus.

Although more than usual, it was $90,000 less than the 1957 surplus which was put into last year's revenue by city council.

Hot weather last summer caused a $23,000 boost for city revenues as a result of more water sales than had been estimated. Parking meters also brought more than expected, $141,173 instead of $135,000.

Tax collections were higher than originally estimated, by $13,000, but police court fines and costs reached only $146,000 and failed to make the

Ashbee Expects Smoother Ride --- If He Gets McKay

By DOUG PEDEN

Don Ashbee is looking forward to an easier summer. Ashbee, the four-faced coach of Nanaimo Labatts, had to struggle all the way and barely made it under the Inter-City Lacrosse League playoff wire last season. Operating in his freshman coaching campaign, he whipped Nanaimo into the league playoffs.

But it was tough and go down the home stretch and the Coalowners had to go to the final game of the regular season to nudge Victoria Shamrocks to the sidelines.

Canadian champions in 1956, Ashbee's crew got by Vancouver Pillenars in the semi-final round before bowing to New Westminster Salmonbellies in the eventual Mann Cup kings-in-the-league final.

This time, Ashbee expects to travel a smoother road to the playoffs and figures his Labatts are only a step away from being the best in the inter-city circuit.

For one thing, he has signed John Lumley, reported last week as a possible addition to the Shamrocks. Lumley was signed, sealed and delivered at Nanaimo on Wednesday. The rugged defenceman, who set a league record for penalties and earned the special hatred of Victoria fans during the 1955 season, agreed to terms with Nanaimo last year, but never got around to reporting.

Also acquired by Labatt's is Ontario import Gary Moore, starry St. Catharines junior who bolstered Brampton Excelsiors for their successful Minto Cup final against the Junior Shamrocks here last summer. Bill Bamford, Victoria defenceman who spent last season in the city senior "B" loop when unable to see eye to eye with the Rocks, has also signed with Nanaimo. And Mike Good, the league's "rookie of the year" two seasons back and idle last summer, is back for another campaign.

DON ASHBEЕ

Stalwarts Arnie Dugan, Don Sherry and Gogi Stewart have signed for another trip through the boxla wars along with other regulars from last year, including Lisle Scott, Ross Roskamp, Spud Morelli, Norm Kowalyk, Joe White, Buddy Dymont and goalies Fred Fulla and Alf Shuker.

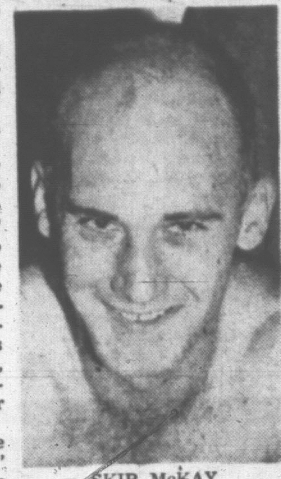

Ashbee also hopes to see Pee-wee Bradshaw, listed as a hold-out by the Irish, and Jack Howes cavorting in Nanaimo uniforms.

"We're stronger than last year," Ashbee stated confidently Wednesday night, "and if we get Skip McKay back, who's going to stop us from finishing on top?"

McKay could be the key man for either Labatts or Shamrocks. Both clubs are competing for the signature of the shifty defenceman, who was second in the scoring race and rated by many as the league's best all-around performer last season. It is believed that neither club has been able to contact McKay, on his way west after a season in the Eastern Amateur Hockey League.

"We figure to have more scoring power this season," said the cigar-smoking Ashbee

Wednesday night at a dinner staged by Victoria Shriners to launch the campaigning for the second annual Shrine game.

Nanaimo won the inaugural Shrine event before a standing-room crowd at Nanaimo Civic Arena last year and Labatt's intend to make it two in a row in the second clash, scheduled at Memorial Arena on April 29.

Whatever the outcome of the Shrine game, Ashbee and tyro Shamrock coach Norm Baker will welcome the chance to test players under battle conditions before the new season gets under way between the same two clubs at Nanaimo in a few days later. It could be a case of "get your money's worth" for the April 29 tussle, from which all proceeds will go to aid Shrine charities.

In addition to the boxla battle, fans will find a lot of entertainment at the arena. Already assured are performances by the noted New Westminster Oriental Band, the Victoria Girls' Drill Team and the Victoria Gizeh Temple Shrine Band.

All fans will be eligible to win one of three door prizes and at least 22 prizes will be given away to program purchasers.

Everyone, even the players, will pay to get into the arena. Tickets, which went on sale today, may be obtained at Memorial Arena or from Victoria Shriners who plan to pack the arena.

SPORTS DIARY

Jimmy Cannon

You're Willie Shoemaker who can't tell the big secret. You're unable to explain why sulky horses run kindly for you when they mangle under other jockeys. Eddie Arcaro, the greatest race rider in all the seasons of your business, claims you're the best he's ever seen. Many agree with him but no one can define the mysterious power you have over stock. They must guess.

Last Saturday you rode six winners in eight races at Jamaica, including Isendu in the Paumonok. You've done this before on other afternoons and our dad, your sixth winner in the eighth race, was the 3,352nd time in 11 years you've gotten there first with a horse over a measured distance. Four times you have been the year's leading jockey and only Johnny Longden, Sir Gordon Richards, Arcaro and Ted Atkinson have won more races. Retired are Richards and Atkinson and

You belong with the great athletes of your time. Cynics grieve because modern kids, who work at games for money, have smaller skills than their fathers. But there is an elite and you're in the shining company of Ted Williams, Willie Mays, Stan Musial, Mickey Mantle, Pancho Gonzales, Ben Hogan, Bob Cousy, Warren Spahn, Jimmy Brown, Ray Robinson, Bob Turley, Floyd Patterson, Stanley Dancer, Herb Elliott, Maurice Richard, Rafe Johnson and Arcaro.

Your rival is Willie Hartack. Your advantage is a serene disposition. He is a furious kid who is exasperated by the small matters of his trade. You ignore them. But they tamper with his style as he rages at those who come his way. You are one of the most popular guys in the jocks' room. The most disliked is Hartack.

You must be selected over him because you can win with a rank horse and not use it up across a long campaign. He'll win with the same horses but he won't be able to save them as you do. Your touch is the secret.

Horsemen regard Manuel Ycaza with respect. He is also shaped for greatness. But he rides with a dangerous carelessness. He spends too much time aloft, unhorsed for long suspensions. Some insist he would be the greatest of all if the inquisitive cameras of the film patrol weren't on him.

Other riders might have been looted of their confidence in '37 when your stupidity cost Gallant Man the Kentucky Derby. You misjudged the finish line and stood up. You recovered immediately but Iron Liege beat you a neck. You became a national joke. Comedians used your name for laughs on the television. The humor was brutal.

You held onto yourself. Your friends knew how you suffered. The people of the race track befriended you with their sympathy. There was no gloating in the tack rooms.

Earns More Than Any Other Athlete

Other race riders, unsolicited and urged only by their regard for you, gave reasons why it could happen to anyone. Some sports journalists asked forgiveness because of your reputation. In a field where slander is common, no one has ever challenged your integrity.

You pal around with Arcaro. He is a dedicated propagandist, disseminating praise of your talent, as if he were the agent who handled your horse instead of Harry Silbert. But in the match race between Swaps and Nashua, Arcaro educated you in the refinements of your sport.

Only Arcaro could have done that to you. And he had the better horse that day because Swaps was sore. Eddie came out of the gate first, whipping as if this were the last couple of laps. He found a dry path on the muddy track and seemed to stall as you came to him on the turns. As you moved on him, Arcaro forced you to go wide and lose ground. That day your closest friend rode a perfect race.

You were wealthy when you turned 21. You were an experienced race rider by then. In California, because Jackie Coogan's movie-made fortune was dissipated by the time he came of age, the earnings of minors must be supervised by the courts. You own real estate and apartment houses and you have hit oil. Along with Hartack and Arcaro, you make more money than any other athlete in this country.

You use the bat when you have to and you also win with hand rides. The horses alone know why your touch inspires them. People can only speculate. You're Willie Shoemaker who can't tell the big secret.

Rampaging Bombers Chalk Up 10 Straight

FLIN FLON, Man. (CP)—Flin Flon Bombers won their 10th consecutive playoff game of the season Wednesday night with a dramatic four-goal third-period rally.

The outburst gave them a 7-4 victory over Winnipeg Braves and a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven Western Canada Memorial Cup final.

Bombers eliminated Edmonton Oil Kings in four games in the semi-final.

Third game of the series will be played Sunday in Winnipeg. Cliff Pennington, Bombers' captain, scored the winning goal, and Dick Mettner added two insurance markers.

Red Berenson, carrot-topped forward who played part of this season with the world champion Belleville MacFarlands pumped in a single goal and George Chigot, Vic Pe-trychko and Gus Gillies shared the rest.

Ernie Bradawaski, Ken King, Howie Hughes and Pat Angers scored for Winnipeg.

Ernie Wakely was outstanding in the Winnipeg net, stopping 27 shots as Bombers, the Memorial Cup champions, in 1956-57, poured on the pressure time and again.

Russians Refuse Rowing Invitation

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Russia has declined an invitation to send its rowing crews to a regatta Aug. 1 at Seattle, Wash., the vice-president of the International Rowing Federation said Tuesday. John Carlin said they would not be able to participate because of a conflicting Soviet sports competition.

THIS IS BASEBALL WEATHER?

Another major league baseball season was ushered in today at Washington and Cincinnati, but winter still lingered at some parks. Bunting is in place for Kansas City's American League opener against Cleveland Friday, but two groundskeepers were checking snow-covered tarpaulin Wednesday to make sure it was still in place. Winter backlashed into Kansas and Missouri with snow and prospects of lower temperatures, which threaten to force postponement of some openers. (AP Wirephoto.)

FIRST UNITED MIDGETS PLACE CROWN ON LINE

First United's little basketballers will lay provincial title on the line Saturday.

They will defend their crown in the annual B.C. midget hoop tournament at First United Fellowship Hall, Balmoral Road.

Opposing the champions will be teams from Vancouver College, Lord Bynoe High School, Alberni, Cumberland, Nanaimo, Duncan, Sooke and Victoria's Metropolitan United.

Tournament play opens at 9 a.m. and will wind up with the championship final, scheduled to start at 7 p.m.

TIMES OPEN

No Easy Chore In That Company

Can this be the year an up-Island entry or a junior comes through with a victory in the Times Vancouver Island Open Match Play Golf Tournament?

The pros made the grade last year and, at the same time, Victoria Club produced its first champion when Oak Bay's Laurie Carroll swept through to receive the Daily Times Trophy.

This tough golf test, which moves into match play rounds Sunday at Colwood, has never been won by a junior or up-Island competitor.

If you're siding with the junior or the up-Island delegation, it must be acknowledged that they seem to have the toughest row to hoe.

Only three up-Island entrants and three city junior aces made the championship flight after last Sunday's qualifying round at Victoria club.

The up-Island hopes are Mike Kolb, former Gorge Vale junior now living at Courtenay, Cowichan veteran Gordie Whan and Jim Swanson, a nine-handicapper who also plays the Cowichan course.

The junior hopefuls are Dave Humphries of Uplands, and a pair of Gorge golfers—former Dominion champion Bill Wakeham and Jim McCoil.

But the tournament has always been studded with surprises, so don't count out any junior or up-Island entry.

Players in the running for the Hugh Francis (handicap) trophy tee off first Sunday, starting at 9 a.m., while the championship flight moves off at 9.56.

Bookies Prefer Canyon Glitter

MONTREAL (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs are betting today that balance can beat brilliance in the Stanley Cup finals.

The bookies aren't. They have established Montreal's colorful Canadiens, National Hockey League champions, as 3-to-1 favorites to win hockey's most prized trophy for a record fourth consecutive time.

As the Leafs and Canadiens prepared for tonight's opening game of the best-of-seven final, winger Dick Duff expressed Toronto's doggedness:

"We can lose the first game to Montreal," he said. "We can lose the second game. We can even lose the third game, and we still won't be eliminated."

TORONTO'S RECORD

"The last time the Stanley Cup was won three times in a row it was Toronto that did it. I think it's up to us to see that record isn't broken."

Montreal tied the record, set by Toronto in 1947-48-49, last year.

Duff is one of the big boys in Toronto's concept of balance. He scored 29 goals this season to become one of six Maple Leaf players to score 20 goals or more. No other club has so many top scorers, not even Montreal—although the Canadiens had two 40-goal men this year.

The attitude of Duff and the other Toronto players, says Maple Leaf coach, George (Punch) Imlach, is what brought the Leafs up out of the NHL cellar into the playoffs in the last few games of the schedule. It also brought them from behind a two-game deficit in the semifinals for a 4-3 win over Boston Bruins.

Montreal coach Toe Blake said he didn't know whether or not he'd use his great centre Jean Beliveau tonight and Beliveau, himself said he didn't think he'd be ready. Beliveau fractured two vertebrae in Montreal's semifinal series against Chicago.

But one old and valuable property was ready—Maurice (Rocket) Richard, hockey's all-time greatest scorer. Injured Jan. 18, the Rocket has been working himself back into shape and has asked Blake to fit him in "any little hole" the team has.

USED ON POWER PLAY

Blake said he didn't know where Richard would be used, but likely he would be tried on power plays until he gets used to things.

Toronto called up forwards Rudy Migay and Dave Creighton and defenceman Al MacNeill, to strengthen the team in the drive.

The three plays for Rochester Americans, who Wednesday night were eliminated from the American Hockey League playoffs. Imlach didn't say where he would use them, but said he'd string along for the time being with the team that has got him this far.

No matter who plays, he insisted, Toronto is just as rough a team as Montreal, just as fast, and a lot younger. The last time Toronto and Montreal met in a Stanley Cup final—in 1951—the series went to overtime in every game and Toronto won it 4-1.

WINNIPEG NEXT

QUEBEC (CP)—The 1960 Canadian badminton championships will be held in Winnipeg, it was announced following a meeting of the Canadian Badminton Association.

LEONARD ENTERED

GREENSBORO, N.C. (CP)—Stan Leonard of Vancouver, fresh from a good round in the Masters, today led a strong "foreign" contingent into the $15,000 Greensboro Open golf tournament which he won in 1957.

However, it was Art Wall and Sam Snead who were the marked men as the tournament got under way today.

Wall went into play on the crest of victories in his last two starts—the Azalea Open at Wilmington, N.C., and the classic Masters at Augusta, Ga. It was in the Masters this year that Leonard took a first-day lead and stayed in contention until the last few holes on the last day. He ended up in a tie for fourth.

As for Snead, he has won here six times since taking the first Greensboro tournament in 1938. In the last 10 years he has finished lower than a third-place tie only once.

Jerry Magee of Toronto is another Canadian in the running for the $2,000 first prize.

Wall confessed to feeling a let-down the last two days after his tremendous Masters finish of last Sunday when he birdied five of the last six holes to win.

He played his first complete round since then Wednesday, negotiating the par-71 Star-mount Forest Country Club course, a 6,800-yarder, in two over par.

The 35-year-old Pocono Manor, Pa., professional has enjoyed the most phenomenal three-month success in Professional Golfers Association history. He has won $29,530 in official money and about $4,000 in "unofficial" events not co-sponsored by the PGA.

This compares with $12,163 by runner-up Gene Littler, who's not in the field of 124 here.

Snead, who will be 47 next month, has won almost $18,000 in playing here in 18 of 21 previous tournaments.

Had he received it, he could have ridden out the storm, and finished the season.

"Maybe the wrong man quit," Maurice (Winnipeg Free Press) Smith wrote that "our hat is off to Campbell for having the courage to publicly express his opinion on the incident which caused the near riot."

"Campbell could have avoided any comment on the matter. That he chose to say what he thought, makes him a better man in our eyes."

In Montreal Wednesday Storey was called to the telephone at his home numberless times by well-wishers.

"The phone started ringing at 6 a.m. and has scarcely stopped," said Storey late Wednesday.

"Not one of all the persons who called me was critical of my action. Everyone said I had done the right thing."

"A minister called. I'd rather not give his name. He said there was this religious meeting of women in his church last night but somehow or other they never got around to discussing religion. He said they all talked about me and approved of what I had done."

Hal (Edmonton Journal) Pawsan said Campbell's criticism "wasn't normal reaction for a league president in any league."

"So if Storey, as Clarence said, 'froze' on penalty calls, perhaps Campbell was guilty of a bit of panic."

Jack (Winnipeg Tribune) Wells said "It is reasonable to assume Storey expected support from his boss, Clarence Campbell."

New Power Chief Here Next Week

Dr. Hugh L. Keenleyside, new chairman of the B.C. Power Commission, will arrive in Victoria next Monday in readiness for the first meeting of the new commission Tuesday.

The other new commissioners—F. A. Lee and Frederick Smith—are also expected here Monday.

But first the commissioners will attend a reception in Vancouver. There, too, will be Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, who is deputy commissioner of the BCPC, and Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston.

Mr. Lee was formerly superintendent of the West Kootenay Power and Light Co. at Trail. Mr. Smith, a chartered accountant, was vice-president in charge of finances with Canadian Utilities Ltd., Edmonton.

UNIVERSITY FRAT HOUSES UNDER FIRE

'Rain of Beer Bottles'

TORONTO (CP)—University fraternities were described Wednesday night as "nothing but a combination of night clubs and cocktail bars."

The description was used by George Hogan at a meeting of ratepayers living just north of the downtown University of Toronto campus who want to ban fraternity houses from their area.

"How would you like to live next door to one and fear for the lives of your children from a rain of beer bottles?" Mrs. Alan Wood asked planning board officials who attended the meeting.

City planning commissioner Matthew Lawson conceded fraternity houses annoyed neighbors but said it was practically impossible to police them.

Today fraternity members denied the charges. President Peter Dent of Nu Sigma Nu, a medical fraternity, said Mr.

Hogan's remarks were "very exaggerated."

Treasurer Gary Goldthorpe of Phi Chi, another medical fraternity, said more noise came out of an apartment house next door.

PLAN TO SAVE B.C. FRUIT

Radioactive Moth Trap

TORONTO (CP)—Scientists in British Columbia are using radioactivity to sterilize moths and hope eventually to eradicate a serious threat to the province's orchards. R. F. Errington, manager of the commercial products division of Atomic Energy of Canada, said here.

Describing one of the more imaginative current efforts in radioactive material use, Mr. Errington told the Industrial Accident Prevention Association's convention that the experiments are under way in British Columbia's Okanagan Valley.

Entomologists have been applying the experiments to male codling moths in the pupa stage, he said. The moths' mating habits are not affected by the process but eggs from the females which they mate do not hatch.

Mr. Errington also told the conference Canada is keeping pace with the United States in the production of radioactive isotopes.

By January 1 the United States had shipped 600,000 curies of radioactive materials for peaceful uses, he said. Atomic Energy of Canada had passed that figure this year. Most of the materials had been exported.

NEW LINERS TO REPLACE CUNARD 'QUEEN' SHIPS?

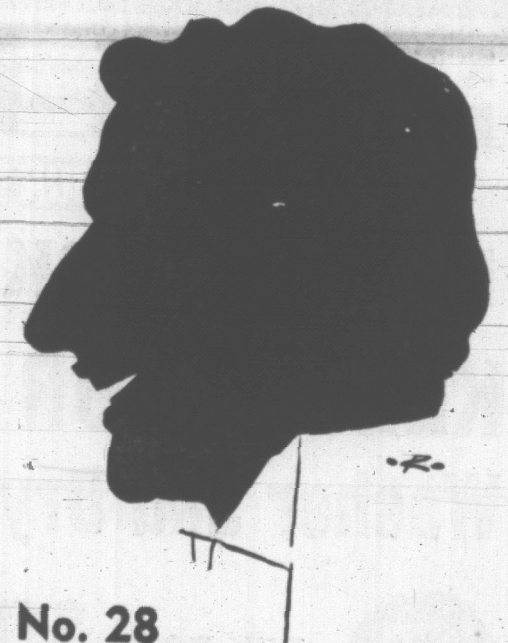

LONDON (Reuters) — Plans for ultra-modern ocean liners to replace the Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth on the North Atlantic run are under discussion, the government disclosed Wednesday.

Transport Minister Harold Watkinson told Parliament that the government, a Cunard shareholder, is holding talks now with the Cunard company.

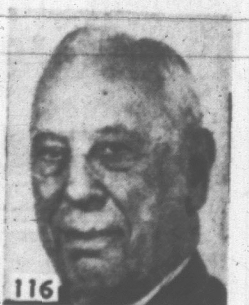

The statement said it is impossible to give details of ships planned to replace the Queens but they will be "of the most modern super-liner class."

$750 IN PRIZES

Victoria Daily Times Silhouette Contest

No. 28

Silhouette Contest Rules

1. The Silhouette Contest is simple and easy to win. It consists of 60 silhouette drawings of widely known persons and 120 pictures. All you have to do is identify the silhouettes, not by name but by pairing them with pictures of the people you think are portrayed in the silhouettes. Each person shown in silhouette will be shown by picture but not necessarily on the same day. In addition there will be 60 pictures of other persons who will not be shown in silhouette drawings. These you will have 120 pictures from which to make your 60 selections to go with the 60 silhouettes. Keep the 60 left over pictures. They will be needed for the final Silhouette Scramble.
2. The contest starts on Saturday, March 7, 1959. Each day for 60 days one silhouette and two pictures will be printed. After you have paired a silhouette with a picture, paste or in some way fasten the matching pair on a single sheet of paper. All 60 sheets are to be fastened together in order and each sheet should bear your name.
3. The Times will award $750 in cash prizes to the winners. There are no entry fees. The prizes are: 1. $500 2. $100 3. $50 and four prizes of $25 each.
4. The contest is open to all residents of Vancouver Island with the exception of employees of the Times and Victoria Press Ltd. and members of their families. Not more than one person will be awarded in any one immediate family.
5. The final silhouette and picture will appear on Saturday, May 16, and with this set will appear a master score sheet on which you must enter the numbers of your silhouette-picture combinations. Do not send in your entries until all silhouettes and pictures have been published.
6. The contestant getting the greatest number of the 60 regular silhouettes correctly paired is automatically the winner of the first prize. Second highest score gets second prize, and so on.
7. A Silhouette Scramble will be published with Silhouette No. 60. This will consist of a number of silhouettes which are to be identified from the 60 pictures left over from the regular contest. The Silhouette Scramble will be used by the judges ONLY in case of a tie. If this extra to the regular contest, then those contestants making the most correct in the Silhouette Scramble will be declared winners.
8. Address entries to Silhouette Contest, Victoria Daily Times, 3611 Douglas Street, Victoria. All entries must be postmarked not later than Monday, May 11. Entries must be sent with first class postage fully paid, since The Times cannot be responsible for return of entries or for any other reason not covered at The Times in due time.
9. By entering the contest, the participant agrees to accept the decision of the judges as final.

Now! a new kind of skim milk powder

"CRYSTALLIZED"

NEW PET INSTANT

Mixes in just 3 seconds

More refreshing than fresh whole milk

TIME IT! New Pet Instant mixes almost faster than you can stir because it's Crystallized by Pet's unique new process. So you can make liquid skim milk in just 3 seconds. And you won't be bothered by residue at the bottom of your pitcher. You see, all the Crystallized Pet Instant powder is reconstituted as soon as it touches water.

TASTE IT! New Pet Instant's amazing Crystallizing process lets all of milk's most refreshing flavour come through. No clinging "fatty" after-taste—that's why Pet Instant tastes more refreshing than fresh whole milk. And, because Crystallized Pet dissolves so fast, so completely, you get none of the "powdery" taste of earlier dry milks.

Children Taught in Russian At New Freedomite School

KRESTOVA, B.C. (CP) — A bearded vegetarian with a ponytail hairstyle began teaching in Russian Wednesday to 40-sons of Freedom Doukhobor children in a special classroom here.

Velodya (Walter) Stepano, about 40, was hired by the Sons to run the school because his predecessor proved unsatisfactory.

Interested Doukhobors drifted in and out of the classroom and some pupils left and returned periodically, but Mr. Stepano, who taught school in his native Russia, continued unperturbed with his lessons.

The school is one of four now operated by the Freedomites in an experiment which they hope will be recognized by the British Columbia government and bring quick release of about 70 of their children in a government-operated dormitory at New Denver, near Nelson in southeastern B.C., which the Sons have condemned as no better than a concentration camp.

DEMAND RELEASE

Earlier, Education Minister Leslie Peterson received a telegram from J. M. Chernoff and 16 other Freedomites, demanding the release of the children at New Denver.

Mr. Peterson has replied asking details of teachers' qualifications and curriculum taught.

"We would like Mr. Peterson and the attorney-general to send Magistrate Evans from Nelson to inspect the new schools and see at first hand how good they are... Then they would release the children immediately," said Freedomite secretary Peter Elaso.

He said about 165 children between the ages of six and 16 — many on the list of truant sought for the special school at New Denver — attend the Freedomite schools at Krestova, Glade, Kinlaw and Grand Forks.

"Eventually we will get up to 250," he said. "I have applied to attend myself — my Russian isn't the best."

UNIVERSITY EDUCATED

Little is known of Stepano's background other than that he was born in Russia, was said to have taught junior high schools there and studied engineering at the University of Toronto.

A Freedomite leader agreed that Stepano looked like a younger Stefan Sorokin, the Sons' spiritual leader now living in Uruguay.

The leader said there was no chance Stepano would become a spiritual leader as "he was hired strictly to teach."

He teaches reading, writing and arithmetic in Russian, using Russian elementary textbooks. No English is taught.

'SURPRISED, DELIGHTED'

Canadian Tenor Will Join Met

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says tenor Jon Vickers of Prince Albert, Sask., will join the Metropolitan Opera next Jan. 6.

The singer was interviewed by telephone in London and was quoted as saying he will sing the roles of Siegmund in Wagner's Die Valkyrie, Don Jose in Carmen, Canio in Pagliacci, Radames in Aida and Florestan in Beethoven's Fidelio.

"I was both surprised and delighted to find out that I would be joining the Met this season," he was quoted. "Negotiations have been going on for some time, but when Rudolf Bing, the Met's general manager, asked me to take on commitments for three months, it was impossible because of previous engagements. I will be singing there from Jan. 6 to March 8."

JAPANESE GARDEN FOR UBC

VANCOUVER (CP) — A noted Japanese landscape artist has arrived at the University of British Columbia to develop an authentic Japanese garden on the campus.

Kanosuke Mori, lecturer in landscape architecture at Chiba University's college of horticulture, was selected by the Japanese government to plan the new development next to UBC's new residence development.

The garden will replace one which has been taken over for the residential development. The new garden will occupy three acres.

'HARD CASH' INTERESTS OSCAR WINNER

LONDON (UPI) — Wendy Hiller, 46, who won an Oscar for her supporting role in the movie "Separate Tables," says "I hope this award means cash, hard cash. Never mind the honor, though I'm sure it's very nice of them."

"They cut two of my best scenes, you know, and then gave one to Rita Hayworth. I was frightfully cross."

"I want lots of lovely offers to go filming in Hollywood, preferably in the winter, so I can avoid all the horrid slush and cold over here."

Teenage Driving Tests In Road-E-O April 18

Annual test of teenage driving skill, the Junior Chamber of Commerce Road-E-O will be held April 18 at 10 a.m. in the B.C. Electric lot at Garbally and Douglas.

Jaycee traffic safety committee chairman, Bill Smart, said today that there were 15 entries so far in the contest but "we hope to have at least 30."

Deadline for entries is Wednesday evening to allow officials time to set up facilities for a written exam prior to the driving.

Winner of the local competition will be sent on an expense-paid trip to Vancouver for the regional finals at the beginning of June.

Expense-paid trips to Galt, Ontario, and scholarship prizes for the top three drivers await regional winners in the national championships June 20.

COMMON SENSE

Mr. Smart said that the written exam was "not particularly hard" but just a matter of "common sense."

"It is a good chance to prove to their parents that they can drive safely," he said.

Driving exam will consist of a tricky obstacle course designed to test the competitor's reactions and judgment.

New cars of varying makes will be provided by city automobile dealers and each entrant will have his choice of car.

Mr. Smart urged teenagers to enter the event and said only qualifications are that they be under 20 years of age and have committed no traffic violations six months prior to the event.

POOR ATTENDANCE Closes Theatre
CHEMAINUS — Willow Theatre in Chemainus has closed its doors.

When and if the theatre will open again will be decided by directors, who are expected to meet shortly to decide the fate of the business and building.

The theatre had been running on a curtailed four nights a week schedule for the past three years. Attendance had been falling off steadily and one night recently, when one of the better shows was playing, there were only 18 paid admissions.

City Labor Half-Price For Mayor

CALGARY (CP)—The parks department in 1956 billed Mayor Don Mackay for 31 hours of work for a job at the mayor's home which involved 72 hours of city labor, the Turcotte inquiry into civic administration was told Wednesday.

The inquiry is looking into Mayor Mackay's business dealings with the city. Judge L. S. Turcotte asked that further information be supplied on how city commissioners conduct business. He wanted to know whether city business can be conducted during the course of a "casual conversation in the basement of city hall."

W. A. McGillivray, counsel for the city, said the incorrect billing of a 1956 account to the mayor was discovered by city auditors in 1958, and that a further account was rendered.

Morris Barracough, administrative assistant in charge of accounting in the parks department for the last five years, said he issued the original bill on the instructions of parks superintendent Alex Munro.

He said he knew at the time the job at the mayor's home involved 72 hours of parks department labor and not 31 hours listed in the account.

Mr. Barracough produced a list of accounts receivable which, he said, were not entered in the city's books until they were paid. He said the list had not been drawn to the attention of the city auditor until September, 1958.

'Go and See Tragedy Yourself'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. Leonard W. Brockington, rector of Queen's University at Kingston, Ont., said Wednesday that he favors "the direct, simple testimony of a man who has seen tragedy with his own eyes" rather than "flamboyant speeches" to assure success of community chest campaigns.

He told a joint luncheon of the Vancouver Board of Trade and western conference of community chests, united appeals and councils that companies should ask some of their employees to visit charities and report back to fellow workers on the needs and accomplishments of organizations needing their financial support.

"Let as many (employees) as are interested go and see with their own eyes the magnificent work that is done," he said.

His address drew a standing ovation from 700 persons, including Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross.

Death Penalty In Murder Convictions

TORONTO (CP)—John Edward Bell, 18, Wednesday was convicted of murder in the beating and strangling death of Stephanie Lysyk, 31, formerly of Winnipeg, and sentenced to be hanged July 14.

MONTREAL (CP)—Frank Ward, a blond, 26-year-old steam-fitter, Wednesday was found guilty of murder in the revolver slaying of a Montreal grocer, last January. Ward was sentenced to be hanged at Montreal jail, July 10.

$2,000 FIRE AND EXPLOSION FROM DRYER

Match in Pocket 'Blows Up' Laundry

A match in a pair of overalls tumbling through a drying machine is believed cause of a $2,000 explosion and fire at New Method Laundry, 947 North Park, at 3.25 p.m. Wednesday.

Machine operator Ronald Marchment was uninjured when the blast ripped off the tumbler head, sent it flying past him and started a blaze amongst the load of overalls being dried.

Two front windows of the plant were blown out onto the sidewalk, also without injury to anyone.

Marchment and cleaner Jack Holdridge used a hose to bring flames under control before city firemen reached the scene.

Company president Hugh Stephen said garments are checked before they are cleaned, "but once in a while a little match may get by."

Through agitation, the match was sparked and set off petroleum solvent vapors used in the cleaning process, it is believed.

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, APRIL 9, 1959—PAGE 17

... HERE AND THERE ...

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Fred, from internal stresses, it now looks as if Goodwill Enterprises for the Handicapped will go ahead.

This remarkable organization, founded by Fred Blakeney in February, 1956, makes work for crippled folk by renovating used garments and selling them to hard-up families.

A year ago, only 15 handicapped workers were employed at Goodwill's premises at 560 Yates. Today 43 are on the payroll.

Victoria Rotary Club by raising large sums of money has contributed to this result, but as Fred Blakeney says: "We cannot prosper without a 100 per cent co-operative spirit. With the set-up we have now we will soon expand to the point where we need larger premises."

Fred is a victim of muscular dystrophy who, by sheer will-power, has kept himself going. He now runs the silk screen printing department and is responsible for advertising and public relations.

He travels to and from his work in a motor wheel chair.

"In my young day there were no such things as tranquillizer pills," says 83-year-old Gilbert Maude, now visiting Victoria from his home in Portland.

"I guess we just didn't know how ill we were without them."

Mr. Maude's prescription for healthy old age is: Open your window wide and take a dozen deep breaths before breakfast.

One of the oldest Rolls Royces in the world is now rolling on Vancouver Island.

It is a 1927 six-cylinder sedan driven by John Duff, 78, formerly of Perthshire, Scotland, now residing at Sidney.

The car originally belonged to a wealthy Scottish family.

"She is a thing apart—a steadfast friend," says Mr. Duff. "I never have any trouble getting parts for her. The Rolls Royce people in England know the car well and send me any accessories I need."

"I order a few points and they throw in a couple of extras. That's service for you."

Dan Ekman, Premier Bennett's new executive assistant, has already received a raise in pay.

The B.C. legislature voted $10,500 for the job but the cabinet has just approved a special order increasing the salary to $12,000 yearly.

Ron Worley, who resigned the appointment last August, received $9,500 a year. He is now in the ice cream business.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Six promotions among non-commissioned ranks of 2455 Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron, RCAF (Aux.) were announced today.

Fighter control operators Phyllis G. Little, 32, and Ora H. Colard, 24, were promoted from corporal to sergeant.

Promoted to the rank of corporal were William J. Nesbitt, 25; John M. Hall, 40; Marjorie G. Mahon, 23; and Maureen E. O'Brien, 24.

An active spring season for the YMCA Outdoor Club has been planned by the executive including two trips this month.

Members will visit the Y's Thunderbird Boys' Camp at Glanz Lake, Sooke, Sunday, leaving at 1.30 p.m.

They will visit Rudy's Zoo on Durrance Road, April 26.

Harry Hayes was elected new president of Machinists, Fitters and Helpers Union, Local 3, Wednesday.

Other officers are: vice-president, Robert Loudon; secretary-treasurer, Peter Holmes; recording secretary, Jack Bath; warden, William Morris; guard, W. Markie; wicz; trustee, Mark Stuart; executive council, Donald Parrish, S. A. Hopkins and Robert Noble.

Linda Scherk, 12, of 834 Devonshire, was treated at Jubilee Hospital for face and head cuts after she was thrown from her bicycle at McCaskill and Langford shortly after noon Wednesday.

Police said the bike went out of control, tossing the girl over the handlebars to land in the street.

Members of the Vancouver Island Chapter, American Society for Metals, will be addressed on "New Methods of Arc Welding" Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Dockyard Officers' Club.

Speaker will be Frederick Schneider, manager of technical development for the Linde Air Welding Company.

Rose M. Colville, 1507 Fernwood, was fined $25 in city police court today when she pleaded guilty to letting her car stand on a street with expired licence plates March 1.

She said the car had frozen up and was inoperative since Dec. 18, and she did not have money to have the car repaired.

Electric Frying Pan
Well Worth Investment

By PENNY SAVER

If your kitchen isn't blessed with an electric frying pan, the lady of the house is really missing out on a time and energy saver.

This modern appliance miracle cooks up your breakfast bacon in minutes to an even crispness, or it fries a family dinner of chicken—with no burning worries.

Dial will choose any heat—by degrees. For washing, dial and cord are detachable—and the whole pan can be immersed in water.

If you're cramped for oven space, never have enough heating elements or burners for cooking this is the thing! Large size is $17.95, and worth it!

Speaking of appliances, modern, oh-so-convenient sewing machines can be had on a rental basis. For as little as $5 a month you can have the use of a smooth, latest model machine. Best part of the bargain is that even rent goes toward paying for the machine (if you want to buy it)—so you have no down payment to worry about.

Does flower arranging leave you frantic and frazzled? It used to leave me that way—and the flowers I'd been fussing with looked just as frazzled by the end of the session. A handy new flower frog is out now that is the answer to a flower arranger's prayer. Made of chicken wire, banded together, base is attached to a rubber suction cup to hold the frog and flowers as steady as a rock.

This wire mesh holder will bend to fit any bowl. It's 59 cents.

Someone I know has been hunting for glass vinegar jars for months. She finally found some. They are gracefully shaped of clear glass, with a large glass stopper. They're handy for salad oil, too, or mint sauce. We even use ours as a vase for the prettiest rosebud of the season. These little jars are 29 cents.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Our complexion is fed by our blood stream and therefore the food we eat has a direct effect on the sort of skin we have. It also is affected by our emotions. It is entirely possible to break out in a rash because of worry, and hives have been correlated with the nerves.

Surveys indicate that many women suffer from allergies without recognizing the source of their trouble. If you have sudden and unexplainable rashes, or swelling, itching, extreme dryness or scaling, you may be in contact with something to which you are allergic. Sneezing without apparent cause also may be a symptom of an allergic state.

The first step is to see a dermatologist. He probably will make patch tests. Usually cosmetics are first suspected. Nail polish, powder, soap, perfume and lipstick are perhaps the most usual offenders.

Your specialist will no doubt ask you to bring samples of all of the cosmetics you use including deodorants, nonpermeable sprays, and hair products—anything which comes in contact with your skin.

These are applied to the skin separately and then covered for 48 hours. At the end of that time the reaction will tell whether or not you are allergic to any of the things you have been using.

If you suspect that you may have allergies, you might try one of the fine brands planned for women like you. There are several good lines on the market.

Naval Officers' Club

Members of the Naval Officers' Association gathered with their wives and guests in the wardroom in HMCS Naden, Wednesday evening, to view a special showing of the film of HRH Princess Margaret's visit to British Columbia, and one of the laying of the trans-Atlantic telephone cable. Among guests were Admiral H. S. Rayner, flag officer Pacific Coast; and Mrs. Rayner, and Cmdr. G. S. Windeyer and Mrs. Windeyer, of Duncan. Cmdr. A. C. Wurtele, president of the association, was host for the evening, with Mrs. Wurtele. Refreshments were served following the films.

Married Quietly

A quiet wedding was solemnized in Hope Lutheran Church last week, when Zella Kathleen, daughter of Mrs. R. Moody, Victoria, and the late Major Moody, became the bride of Mr. Constantine Peter Karas, son of Mrs. M. Karas and the late Peter Karas, also of Victoria. Rev. C. C. Janzow officiated at the afternoon ceremony. Mrs. Denis Roberts was matron of honor; Irene Karas, flower girl, and Mr. John Hodder, best man. A small reception followed the service in the Glenahiel Hotel, at which Mr. Austin Curtis officiated as toastmaster.

Christening

Julie Anne was named given the two-month-old infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Jorre de St. Jorre of Woodburn Avenue, at a christening service in St. Andrew's Cathedral recently. Godparents are Mrs. Leonard C. Johnson and Mr. John D. Cieri. Father D. Johnston conducted the service. Little Julie is the maternal granddaughter of Mrs. Christy Harding, Vancouver Street, and her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre of Pinewood Avenue.

Palm Springs Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Barlowe and their sons, Garry, Bruce and Joe, returned earlier this week from a 10-day motor trip through southern California. In Palm Springs they visited Mr. Barlowe's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Plimley, of Vancouver, who

DEAR ABBY...

It's Now or Never, Mom!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Dear Abby: What can be done with a four-year-old child who sometimes stays up as late as 10 o'clock, doesn't shut her mouth and insists on sleeping with us nightly until we carry her into her own bed asleep? I am sick and tired of this. When I try to put her to bed at 8 o'clock she cries and screams and throws up her supper. My doctor says nothing is wrong with her and all she needs is discipline, but he doesn't know how strong-willed she is. I am willing to try anything anyone suggests as I am ready for a nervous breakdown.

MRS. W. D.

DEAR MRS. W. D.: Your doctor is trying to tell you it is time you showed your child who is "boss." Put her in her own bed at 8 o'clock in spite of her tantrums. You might have to "tidy her up" and return her to bed again, but once she learns her scenes are futile there will be no more nonsense.

DEAR ABBY: Recently you mentioned a woman who listened in on the party line and I thought you might enjoy knowing how I handled a similar experience. I had a private line but I used to call a friend who had a five-party line. We could hear her neighbor listening in because of the background music, children, etc. Finally I got tired of it and started to say the Apostles Creed and my friend made the responses. Soon, bang went the receiver. Another time I led the Rosary prayers—my friend responded. Bang it went again! I asked questions on religion—my friend replied. That snoopy neighbor sure learned a lot about our religion—but nothing else. By the way, I am 74. AUNT PEG.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please help to settle a family argument? My mother-in-law says that Elizabeth Taylor is pushing forty. She also says that Loretta Young, Ginger Rogers and Joan Crawford are all pushing sixty and they were

One Dress for Two Weddings:

My two daughters are to be married a month apart. Could I wear the same dress for both? I don't want people to talk.

Louise Davis answers:

It seems extravagant to think of purchasing two dresses. I know what I would do! I would wear the same to both and wouldn't care a hoot what anyone thought or said. If you really need two new outfits for future use, well and good—if not, the money spent for the extra one can be put to good use.

Sue Pearson Widely Feted At Pre-Nuptial Parties

Among pre-nuptial parties held for April bride-elect Miss Sue Pearson was a coffee party and lingerie shower, held at the home of Miss Jackie Ball on Cook Street. A corsage of red roses was presented to Miss Pearson. Gifts were arranged in a decorated hat box. Invited to the affair were Mrs. K. Saunders, Mrs. D. Mitchell, Mrs. R. Clark, Mrs. S. Kerr, Mrs. D. Jones, Mrs. D. Veniot, Mrs. I. Blower, Mrs. I. Fowler, and the Misses Nand Clark and Annlyn Florence.

Mrs. Fred Herndorf entertained at her home, Regency Apartments, at a shower for the bride-elect. Co-hostess was Mrs. B. Larkin. Gifts were held in a miniature ship, to honor the groom-elect, who is in the United States Navy. A corsage of five baby orchids was presented to the guest of honor. Guests were the bride-elect's co-workers at the B.C. Power Commission. They were Mrs. M. Dyker, Mrs. P. Robinson, Mrs. D. Pearson, Mrs. H. Armstrong, Mrs. K. Bruner, and the Misses Jackie Ball, Cindy Challis, Francis Lee, Joan Birch, Sally Noble and Joan Island.

A corsage of red roses was presented to Miss Pearson at a shower given by Mrs. K. K. John, at the home of the bride-elect's parents on Cordova Bay Road. Her mother, Mrs. W. A. Pearson, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. A. Manson, received corsages of red roses. Also present at the party were Mrs. V. Wyper, Mrs. K. Beard, Mrs. B. Woolidge, Mrs. G. Sulars, Mrs. Grievies, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. M. Scotney, Mrs. K. Jack, Mrs. F. Jack, Mrs. G. Waistell, Pearson, Mrs. O. Johns, Mrs. Grant, and Miss Joanne Pearson. A model of a ship held the gifts.

Another shower for the couple was played by Mrs. M. Wilms-hurst at the evening service. A full-length gown of net over taffeta en train, was worn by the bride. The lace bodice was fashioned with a scooped neckline and long lily point sleeves. A headpiece of pearls on net held her shoulder-length veil and she wore a pearl necklace and earrings as jewelry. Red roses and white carnations were in the bridal bouquet.

Bride's father gave her in marriage. Mrs. G. Erikson was matron of honor and Miss Jacqueline Reeve was bridesmaid. Both wore ballerina length dresses in nylon crystalline fabric. They held floral bandeaux and carried bouquets of carnations.

Best man was Leonard Deen, groom's brother and ushers were Ken Westwood and Bill Reeve. Cecil Reeve proposed the toast at a reception in Holy-rod House.

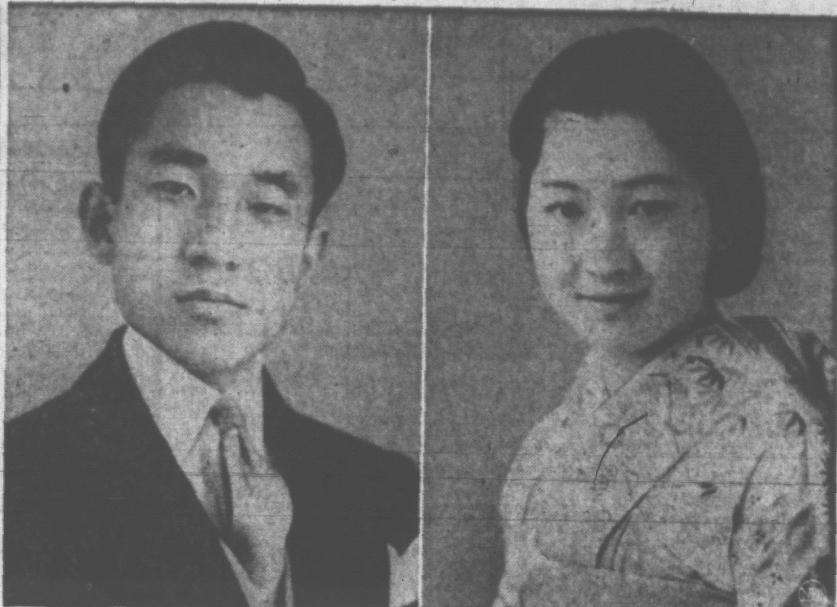

Leaving on a wedding trip, the bride wore a suit in pale blue wool.

Crown Prince Akihito

Michiko Shoda

Where they'll be married—On April 10 Crown Prince Akihito of Japan and Michiko Shoda, his commoner fiancee, will be married in the moated Imperial Palace, above, in Tokyo. There will be no spectators, no witnesses. They'll be alone except for a Shinto priest.

Twelve Robes in Wedding Gown For Bride of Japanese Prince

By YUKO NAKAMIKIDAO

TOKYO (Reuters) — Petite Michiko Shoda faces an exhaustive test of endurance in a rugged timetable of old and new ceremonies when she marries Crown Prince Akihito Friday.

She must leave the suburban mansion of her parents at 6:30 a.m. and—despite the throngs expected to be crowding the route—she must arrive at the Imperial Palace exactly 20 minutes later by automobile.

NOT MUCH TIME

Michiko is allowed precisely two hours, 56 minutes to prepare herself for the brief, simple wedding ceremony held privately in a tiny Shinto shrine in the palace.

She will be swathed in more than 30 pounds of costume, dress-upon-dress and robe-upon-robe of heavy cloth. Her head must carry an enormous wig.

The junihitoe — "suit of 12 garments" — is styled for winter time, though it is cherry blossom time now in Japan. But court rules lay down that winter dress is worn between Nov. 8 and May 6 whatever the temperature.

Originally the costume of Chinese women, it was adopted by ladies of the Japanese court 1,000 years ago. Gradually, an elaborate set of rules developed about its wearing until only members of the imperial family were permitted to wear it in its full splendor.

Now it is only worn on three special occasions—accession to the throne, a royal wedding and formal recognition of a prince imperial.

BORROWED COSTUME

A year is required to weave a new junihitoe and since the royal engagement was announced only 4½ months ago, Michiko had to borrow her wedding costume from Empress Navako.

It is valued at $6,000. It begins on the inside with a full-length, lined dress of royal purple, with close-fitting sleeves.

Second layer, fitted at the waist, is a voluminous divided skirt with each side extending into two, 10-foot-long purple trains. Next is the only unlined silk dress used in the costume.

Then comes "the five cloths"—five dresses of varied colors sewn together so that strips of the narrow colors show at the neck and cuffs. Over all this comes a dress of heavy, stiff cloth, another garment of patterned design, a waist-long tunic with full sleeves and a half-skirt draped at the back from the waist.

TABI ON FEET

On her feet, Michiko will wear tabi-socks with a separate big toe to take sandal straps.

The wig is made from heavily-oiled human hair, joined into six-foot lengths rolled at set as a cumbersome black headress, so stiff and heavy that Michiko will be able to move her head only slightly and slowly.

A golden lacquered comb is fitted over the forehead and on top of the wig is another gold ornament fixed with long, gold pins to the false hair. Red strings of woven paper trail from the back of the wig.

After the 15-minute wedding ceremony, Michiko has one hour to remove her costume, have her hair washed and re-set and change into a Western-style decollete dress to meet the imperial guests and ride in the royal procession through the city to her husband's palace.

Prince Says He Marries 'For Love'

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese newspapers announced today that the royal romance is a love match after all.

Crown Prince Akihito told a reporter for the Kyodo news agency that his feeling for Michiko Shoda turned to love after he chose her to become the first commoner in history destined to share the chrysanthemum throne.

When their engagement was announced, the accepted story was that Akihito had fallen in love with Miss Shoda after meeting on the tennis court. But later there were official statements that the young woman, daughter of a wealthy flour miller, was chosen by the imperial household board in conformity with the tradition of arranged marriages.

"At the outset I was quite detached," Akihito told the reporter at a party. "I selected quite objectively from many girls the one who met all the requirements. That girl was Miss Shoda."

"It later turned to love. I am marrying her because I love her."

Mobile Shop Makes Over $900

A sum of $944.98 was realized from the Mobile Shop in the Royal Jubilee Hospital during the month of March. This was announced by Mrs. A. Rainey, convener, at recent meeting of Junior Auxiliary to the hospital.

Also reported was a sum of $438.94 from last month's sales at the auxiliary's Thrift Shop. Mrs. F. Weston is convener.

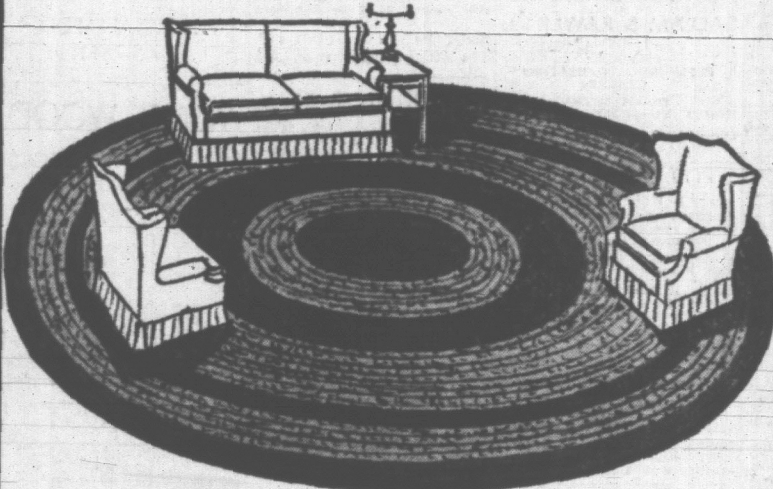

Mrs. W. Trenholme presided at the meeting held in the Nurses' Home.

Purchase of three wheel-chairs for hospital emergency office and one for X-ray department was authorized by the group. Plans were discussed for a cuff link tea to be held in Nurses' Home April 29, when a pair of cuff links will be presented to each member of the graduating class. New members welcomed by the president are Mrs. L. Kirk and Mrs. A. Flood.

Brant Kill Too Big

QUALICUM BEACH—Problem of "where are the brant?" which has been worrying local sportsmen for some time, was answered before the Qualicum District Fish and Game Association here by Ron Mackay, western representative of the federal wild life branch.

Recent studies show a high mortality rate among the brant along the coast, he said. Formerly a familiar sight in flocks in coastal waters, the big sea birds are being rapidly reduced in numbers by over-shooting to the point where drastic protective measures may be necessary to ensure the survival of the species.

In California alone the brant "kill" is said to be 15,000 to 20,000 birds a year.

The same situation exists in other coastal areas including Mexico, where game laws are not strict and enforcement is difficult. Many wealthy American sportsmen find the peninsula of Lower California an almost open field.

Co-operation by the three countries might do much to save the beautiful birds, he said. Sportsmen in B.C., which is on the fringe of the migratory tract, would welcome conservation measures, which might involve a close season for several years to allow the brant to multiply. In Qualicum Beach, it was stated, only 12 birds have been taken this season, and in the whole Qualicum-Parksville area not more than 50.

Mr. Mackay is now attending a gathering of wild-life authorities in California, where he hopes to discuss the matter with other officials to see what can be done.

Legion to Stage Chemainus Boxing

CHEMAINUS—The Legion Boxing Club will stage a fight card in the Community Centre around the end of the month.

Among local boxers to be featured will be Skimp Williams and Bruce Baillie, both of whom showed well in the recent Island and B.C. Golden Gloves.

Ladysmith, Salt Spring Island and Victoria boxers will also appear on the card.

Travelling Gavel Going to Ganges

CHEMAINUS—The AOTS Club will travel to Salt Spring Island, Friday night, to present the AOTS travelling gavel to the Ganges AOTS Club.

The gavel was recently presented to the Chemainus club by Roland Appleby, on behalf of the Centennial United Church AOTS Club in Victoria.

155 LIVING DESCENDANTS

Funeral Service Held For Mrs. S. Williams

DUNCAN—Funeral services were held at St. Ann's Church, Tzouhalem Road, this week for Mrs. Sarah Williams, 91, who died Saturday and left 155 living descendants.

One of her sons is Chief Elwood Modeste of the Cowichan Band.

Mrs. Williams was born in Nanaimo, and moved to Duncan 80 years ago.

Other survivors besides Chief Modeste are three other sons, James, Cassel, and Wesley, all of Duncan; three daughters, Mrs. Walter George, Duncan; Mrs. Frank Knighton, Cloose; and Mrs. Mabel George, Esquimalt; 49 grandchildren, 92 great-grandchildren, and 14 great-great-grandchildren.

Kinsmen Hailed At Chemainus For 'Model Club'

CHEMAINUS—Kinsmen deputy governor Howie Filmer of Duncan, while making an official visit to the Chemainus club this week, complimented the club on its numerous community service projects and on its attendance standing.

"You have a unique club here. You carry out so many different projects ranging from wood-cutting to building park picnic tables and you carry all of them out with equal enthusiasm. You could well serve as a model for many other clubs," he said.

The club will make a donation of $15 to the annual Red Cross campaign. Telephone canvass on behalf of the forthcoming blood donor clinic will be held April 17 to 19.

SAILING AROUND ISLAND

3 Men in a Boat Making Progress

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP)—The "three men in a boat" are making progress in their plans to sail around Vancouver Island.

The adventurers reached here Tuesday in a converted 19-foot lifeboat with a 2½ horsepower inboard motor.

Starting from Vancouver, Martin Bartlett and Craig Aspinall, former newspapermen, and Ralph Deans put into Campbell River after getting past the treacherous rip tides of Cape Mudge.

They originally planned sailing the white-and-blue trimmed boat, the Amayilis, up the west coast of the island, but adverse winds forced the tiny craft along the inland passage.

They plan to complete the voyage by May 1.

Oregon Champion Arabian Stallion At Stud In Ganges

GANGES—An Arabian stallion, "Mazara," AHC9779, is at stud at the Fernwood Road farm of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sampson.

They bought the seven-year-old on a recent trip to Portland. He has won the Oregon high point championship, reserve champion trophy and Associated Hunt Club trophy.

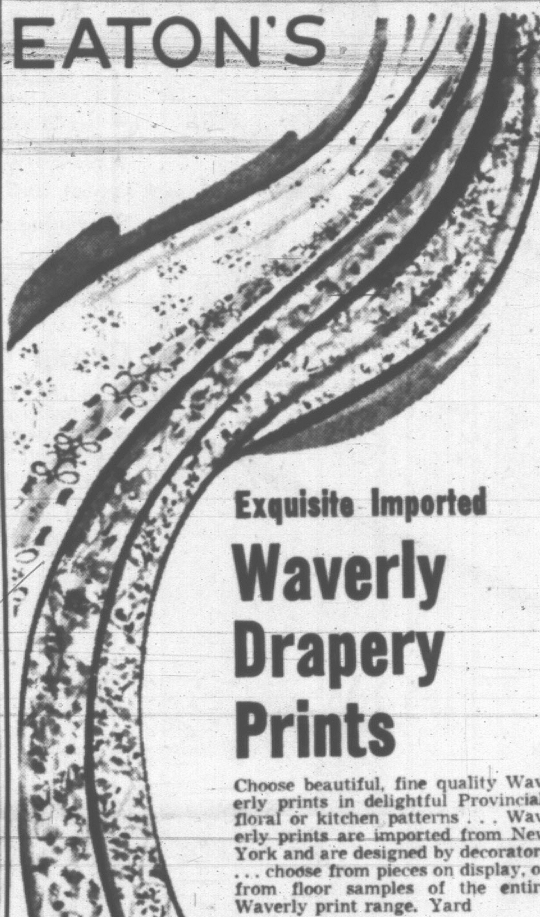

The owners intend to build up their own stable, but have announced the stallion is available for outside services.

Cities Ask Ottawa For Works Fund

Taxes Too High, Loans Too Costly

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities today asked for more federal money to help municipalities pay for major capital works, particularly slum-clearance, community improvement, and urban growth projects.

It urged the government to convene a federal-provincial-municipal conference, and to work towards putting Canadian municipalities on a level of financial equality.

In a brief presented to Prime Minister Diefenbaker and his cabinet, the federation said municipalities in general can pay their own expenses of operation and general services. They couldn't provide the money for the often-vital projects that called for large, immediate spending.

Municipalities were levying all the taxes they legally could, tax rates were higher than ever, and still there wasn't enough money for expansion, for highways, for hospitals and schools.

DIFFICULT TO BORROW
Borrowing the needed money was difficult because interest rates were high, and most municipalities already had borrowed as much as financial circles considered safe — up to 20 per cent of the value of taxable assets. In any case, heavy selling of federal bonds, and industrial bonds, had almost driven municipal bonds off the Canadian market.

Some municipalities were unable even to sell their bonds in the United States.

The brief was a follow-up to an informal federal-municipal conference last October. The conference had asked whether municipalities were all having financial difficulties; whether they were fully using the sources of money now available to them; whether new fields for them to tax could be found; and whether federal and provincial governments are helping with grants.

Inflation, rising wages and salaries, rising standards of municipal services, and the rapid growth of urban areas had increased the cost of government, the brief said. Increases in property taxes, business and licence taxes, higher government aid and other revenues had offset these increases enough so that municipalities had been able to balance their budgets, but not to proceed with new projects.

FAIR TAX
Property taxes provided about 65 per cent of the municipalities' revenue. This was a fair tax in that a city's main services were provided to properties. But new services such as building schools and hospitals, though necessary, could not be legitimately charged property owners as service to property.

Average taxpayers in average communities already were burdened with costs of a high standard of living and with credit commitments.

Business taxes likewise were probably as high as possible. Imposition of local consumption taxes, such as sales taxes, was possible but difficult to administer.

JOEY MEETS REPORTERS

Premier Joey Smallwood of Newfoundland today held a meeting in Ottawa with Northern Affairs Minister Hamilton, William J. Browne, minister without portfolio and Newfoundland's representatives in federal cabinet but didn't see Prime Minister Diefenbaker. Wednesday, he said of the prime minister: "He won't bully me." (See story page 3). Smallwood, wearing dark glasses, he is met by reporters in Montreal Wednesday.

'WILL HEAR ANYONE'

Full U.K. Probe Into Nyasaland

LONDON (Reuters) — A government-appointed commission left today to inquire into the troubles in Nyasaland, which has been under a state of emergency since March 3.

The four-man commission, headed by High Court Justice Sir Patrick Devlin, will arrive in the Nyasaland capital of Zomba Saturday.

More than 50 Africans — but no whites — have been killed and hundreds of members of the African National Congress jailed since the state of emergency was declared. The government moved after an alleged plot to kill Europeans.

Devlin said at London airport that the commission will "see and hear anyone who has relevant evidence to give, whether they are detained or free."

He said he could not say whether Dr. Hastings Banda, leader of the Nyasaland African National Congress, would be giving evidence.

HE PROVED REAL BRAVE UNTIL ...

FAIRMONT, Minn. (AP) — It was program director Roger Hough's own idea to do a live report from the Red Cross bloodmobile for his radio station, KSUM, Wednesday.

As a nurse got him ready to donate a pint of blood, Hough began broadcasting to his listeners, telling them there was nothing to it.

"Everything's all right," he told the radio audience. "I ... ah ..."

Boy Beaten to Death By 12-Year-Old Pal

DETROIT (AP) — After an all-night search, 12-year-old Jeffrey Paxton was found beaten to death today in a garage back of his home in suburban Dearborn Township. The boy had been hidden beneath a work bench by a neighbor boy who, deputy sheriff said, admitted striking Jeffrey with a hammer because "he teased me."

Deputies quoted John Turner, 12, a junior high school classmate of Jeffrey, as saying, "He kept calling me names. I grabbed a hammer and hit him. I didn't mean to hurt him." Turner was booked for investigation.

JAPAN'S CINDERELLA STORY

Magic Day for Michiko

See also Page 18
TOKYO (AP) — The pretty commoner marries her prince Friday in the climax to a storybook romance.

"I am passing each day wrapped in an indescribable state of tension," murmured 24-year-old Michiko Shoda as the hour of her tradition-shattering marriage to Crown Prince Akihito drew near.

An intelligent, high-spirited girl unknown to Japan's millions less than five months ago, she is destined to ascend the 2,600-year-old chrysanthemum throne one day as Akihito's empress, the first commoner ever to do so.

She told reporters Wednesday night: "I am praying in my heart that I may be able to carry out somehow the heavy responsibilities that lie ahead without making any serious mistakes."

The crown prince, 25, and the wealthy flour miller's daughter will become man and wife at 10:13 a.m. (7:13 p.m. PST tonight).

At that moment they will sip sacred wine from shallow, unglazed cups in the Kashikodokoro, the imperial Shinto shrine which houses the replica of an ancient mirror, one of the symbols of Japan's royalty.

Thousands of young Japanese girls, to whom Michiko is the embodiment of their post-war emancipation, at the same moment will marry in shrines and wedding halls throughout the country.

Their eagerness to share in the marriage by the young couple afterward.

FIRE ABOARD CARRIER ARK ROYAL

DEVONPORT, England (AP) — Fire broke out today in the boiler room of Britain's biggest aircraft carrier, the Ark Royal.

The 43,000-ton carrier was undergoing refit here when smoke began pouring from below decks and great blisters erupted in the vessel's paintwork.

Eight dockyard workers and four sailors were taken to hospital after collapsing in the fumes. They were discharged later.

Three fire pumps brought the blaze under control. An admiralty spokesman said it was believed some oil had caught fire.

WE KNOW TONIGHT

Stand-Pat Budget Possible

Special to The Times
OTTAWA — Last minute speculation on the federal budget is that there may not be any major tax boosts after all. Finance Minister Fleming goes before the Commons at 8 p.m. (5 p.m. PST) to make his budget address and is expected to reach the portions on taxes about 9 p.m. (6 p.m. PST).

In view of the $616 million deficit in the last fiscal year there has been speculation for weeks that a jump in income or other taxes might be necessary.

But observers today were suggesting Mr. Fleming may bank on expansion of the nation's economy during the coming year to produce the revenue necessary to overcome his deficit situation without making drastic changes in the tax structure.

Full details of the budget will appear in Friday's Times.

Nixon In Ike Out For Opener

WASHINGTON (AP) — Left-hander Jack Harshman of Baltimore Orioles opposed right-hander Pedro Ramos of Washington Senators as the 1959 American League season opened today.

Vice-president Richard Nixon, substituting for vacationing President Eisenhower, threw out the first ball.

Appeals Upheld

PRETORIA, South Africa (CP) — The Supreme Court has upheld appeals by 441 African Negro women against sentences imposed for taking part in a procession protesting the issue of identity books to African women. Fines of £10 were set aside on the grounds that a warning to disperse given by a police officer during last October's procession might not have been audible or intelligible to all the women.

U.S. Plane Missing
TOKYO (AP) — A U.S. Navy seaplane with 10 men aboard is missing between Japan and South Korea, the navy reported tonight.

Weapons To Algeria
ORAN, Algeria (AP) — The French navy Wednesday brought the Czechoslovakian freighter Lidice into port and seized its cargo of 500 tons of arms.

The French said they suspected the arms were destined for the Algerian nationalist rebels. The crew of the 5,659-ton vessel said the arms were for North Viet Nam.

Leaves the Kurds are being sent to Baghdad to strengthen Premier Abdel Karim Kassim in his feud with UAR President Nasser and Iraqi Arab nationalists who oppose the growing Communist influence on Kassim's government.

Bomb Threat
LONDON (AP) — An anonymous telephone caller told Scotland Yard a bomb would be smuggled into today's session of Parliament. The call was believed to be a hoax but police guards at the House of Lords and the House of Commons were told to keep an eye on visitors.

HOCKEY FINAL ON TV AT 5.30

The CBC reports that it will carry the first game in the Stanley Cup finals between Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs tonight at 5.30, Channels 6 and 2.

The second game, says the CBC, will be screened Saturday night on Channels 6 and 2 commencing at 5.30.

'I CHOSE ARROGANCE'

Genius of Design Not Humble Man

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Frank Lloyd Wright, colorful and controversial genius of design, died today in a Phoenix hospital following a brief illness. He was 89.

A giant on the national and international architectural scene, Wright underwent an operation Monday for removal of an intestinal obstruction. He had been stricken Saturday at his winter home near Scottsdale.

Wright was almost as noted for his pithy comments as for his unusual buildings.

HONEST ARROGANCE

"Early in life I had to choose between honest arrogance and hypocritical humility," he said at the age of 87. "I chose honest arrogance and have seen no occasion to change."

Born June 8, 1869, in Richland Centre, Wis., Wright designed more than 700 buildings around the world.

The most famous included the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo, the Guggenheim Museum in New York and Price Tower in Bartlesville, Okla.

In 1948 the American Institute of Architects named him the 15th winner in 42 years of its gold medal "for distinguished service to the advancement of the art and the profession of architecture."

But there was no love lost between Wright and members of the institute. Some of his sharpest barbs were reserved for his fellow architects.

He once described the institute as "the American institute of appearances" and on another occasion declared, "The only thing wrong with architecture is architects."

But architects were not the only objects of his wrath.

HATED CITIES

He didn't like cities. He called them "vampires living on the fresh blood of the countryside and villages, sterilizing humanity, urban apartment developments were 'nothing but sanitary slums.'"

He called government buildings in Washington "stone quarries erected to satisfy a grandamania as insatiable as it is insignificant."

At an early stage in his career he called skyscrapers "monoliths raised for the commercial exploitation of the man in the street."

'NEAR-MONOPOLY'

UBC 'Stolen' By Vancouver

PENTICTON (CP) — Geography has given Vancouver students a near-monopoly on British Columbia's university facilities, the University of B.C. alumni in the Okanagan has complained in a brief to the Chant royal commission on education.

It seems that when taxes and donations are needed we have a University of B.C., but when benefits and opportunities are offered it's the University of Vancouver," said consulting engineer H. R. Hatfield, a Penticton school trustee.

He said it costs twice as much for outside students to go to UBC as it does for coast residents.

"It's safe to say, the seat-warmer and good-time boys who from time to time clutter up the institution nearly all come from Vancouver — no body else can afford it."

Mr. Hatfield said the discrimination is known to UBC's governing personnel but since they live in or around Vancouver or Victoria, they never admit the situation.

Students from the rest of B.C. should in some way have the cost and opportunity of university education made equal with those of coast students, he suggested.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Our Father, who art in heaven, we reverently acknowledge Thy lordship over our lives. Push back the borders of the spirit, that we may glimpse a vision of Thy divine presence. Take our small affairs and make them large with meaning as we attach them to Thy holy will. Enlarge the horizons of our understanding and concern for others. Give us directions from above when we lose the way. Enlist us in the continuing struggle with evil. And in times of loneliness and defeat may the Christ spirit bring new hope and courage; in His name. Amen.

Reds Sending More Help To Kassem, Cairo Claims

CAIRO (AP) — Cairo radio says Iraq has granted entry visas to 2,000 Kurd tribesmen from the Soviet Union in addition to 855 reported to have passed through the Suez Canal.

The suggestion was made by committee chairman Ald. M. H. Mooney who said he understood that the football team was looking for new training quarters. It has trained in Kelowna in the past.

However, it added a rider that no final decision be made until parks administrator W. H. Warren investigated the costs.

EVEN CF-100 DIDN'T SAVE THIS DRIVER

WEYBURN, Sask. (CP) — The licence plate wasn't enough to help an Alberta motorist who appeared in magistrate's court Wednesday for speeding.

Court was told Larry H. James was clocked at 107 miles an hour. The car's licence was CF-100.

U.S. Picks Space Flight Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three U.S. Air Force jet pilots, three navy men and a marine have been picked by the government as the Americans best equipped to attempt space flight. Their names were announced today.

One of them two years hence may orbit the earth at an altitude of 100 to 150 miles in a satellite flight. The others probably will take similar space rides in the months following.

The seven chosen from a rigorous selection program, testing both physique and personality, are:

Navy Lieut. Malcolm S. Carpenter, 33, of Garden Grove, Calif.

Marine Lt.-Col. John H. Glenn, 37, of New Concord, Ohio.

Air Force Capt. Virgil I. Grissom, 33, of Mitchell, Ind.

Navy Lt.-Cmdr. Walter M. Shira, 36, of Hackensack, N.J.

Navy Lt.-Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., 35, of East Derry, N.H.

Air Force Capt. Donald K. Slayton, 35, of Sparta, Wis.

Match in Pocket 'Blows Up' Laundry

A match in a pair of overalls tumbling through a drying machine is believed cause of a $2,000 explosion and fire at New Method Laundry, 947 North Park, at 3.25 p.m. Wednesday.

Machine operator Ronald Marchment was uninjured when the blast ripped off the tumbler head, sent it flying past him and started a blaze amongst the load of overalls being dried.

Two front windows of the plant were blown out onto the sidewalk, also without injury to anyone.

Marchment and cleaner Jack Holdridge used a hose to bring flames under control before city firemen reached the scene.

Company president Hugh Stephen said garments are checked before they are cleaned, "but once in a while a little match may get by."

Through agitation, the match was sparked and set off petroleum solvent vapors used in the cleaning process, it is believed.

... HERE AND THERE ...

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Freed from internal stresses, it now looks as if Goodwill Enterprises for the Handicapped will go ahead.

This remarkable organization, founded by Fred Blakeney in February, 1956, makes work for crippled folk by renovating used garments and selling them to hard-up families.

A year ago, only 15 handicapped workers were employed at Goodwill's premises at 560 Yates. Today 43 are on the payroll.

Victoria Rotary Club by raising large sums of money has contributed to this result, but as Fred Blakeney says: "We cannot prosper without a 100 per cent co-operative spirit. With the set-up we have now we will soon expand to the point where we need larger premises."

Fred is a victim of muscular dystrophy who, by sheer will-power, has kept himself going. He now runs the silk screen printing department and is responsible for advertising and public relations.

He travels to and from his work in a motor wheel chair.

"In my young day there were no such things as tranquillizer pills," says 83-year-old Gilbert Maude, now visiting Victoria from his home in Portland.

"I guess we just didn't know how ill we were without them."

Mr. Maude's prescription for healthy old age is: Open your window wide and take a dozen deep breaths before breakfast.

One of the oldest Rolls Royces in the world is now rolling on Vancouver Island.

It is a 1927 six-cylinder sedan driven by John Duff, 78, formerly of Perthshire, Scotland, now residing at Sidney.

The car originally belonged to a wealthy Scottish family.

"She is a thing apart—a steadfast friend," says Mr. Duff. "I never have any trouble getting parts for her. The Rolls Royce people in England know the car well and send me any accessories I need."

"I order a few points and they throw in a couple of extras. That's service for you."

Dan Ekman, Premier Bennett's new executive assistant, has already received a raise in pay.

The B.C. legislature voted $10,500 for the job but the cabinet has kept himself a special order increasing the salary to $12,000 yearly.

Ron Worley, who resigned the appointment last August, received $9,500 a year. He is now in the ice cream business.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Six promotions among non-commissioned ranks of 2455 Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron, RCAF (Aux.) were announced today.

Fighter control operators Phyllis G. Little, 32, and Ora H. Collard, 24, were promoted from corporal to sergeant.

Promoted to the rank of corporal were William J. Nesbitt, 25; John M. Hail, 40; Marjorie G. Mahon, 23, and Maurine E. O'Brien, 24.

An active spring season for the YMCA Outdoor Club has been planned by the executive including two trips this month.

Members will visit the Y's Thunderbird Boys' Camp at Glinz Lake, Sooke, Sunday, leaving at 1.30 p.m.

They will visit Rudy's Zoo on Durranee Road, April 26.

Harry Hayes was elected new president of Machinists, Fitters and Helpers Union, Local 3, Wednesday.

Other officers are: vice-president, Robert Loudon; secretary-treasurer, Peter Holmes; recording secretary, Jack Bath; warden, William Morris; guard, W. Markiewicz; trustee, Mark Stuart; executive council, Donald Parrish, S. A. Hopkins and Robert Noble.

Linda Scherk, 12, of 834 Devonshire, was treated at Jubilee Hospital for face and head cuts after she was thrown from her bicycle at McCaskill and Langford shortly after noon Wednesday.

Police said the bike went out of control, tossing the girl over the handlebars to land in the street.

Members of the Vancouver Island Chapter, American Society for Metals, will be addressed on "New Methods of Arc Welding" Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Dockyard Officers' Club.

Speaker will be Frederick Schneider, manager of technical development for the Linds Arc Welding Company.

Rose M. Colville, 1507 Fernwood, was fined $25 in city police court today when she pleaded guilty to letting her car stand on a street with expired licence plates March 1.

She said the car had frozen up and was inoperative since Dec. 18, and she did not have money to have the car repaired.

Ross Farrell, 1201 Haultain, was fined $10 in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to using a wrong traffic lane at a downtown intersection.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Will you please tell me where I can send for a birth certificate for someone born in Edmonton, Alta.? D. W.

A. Write Dept. of Vital Statistics, Legislative Bldg., Edmonton, Alta.

Q. I hear a lot about Washington's Pentagon Building as the seat of U.S. government administration; can you tell me anything more about it F.S.

A. The Pentagon, world's largest office building, covers 34 acres on the Virginia side of the Potomac River. Daytime population is 29,000, 65 per cent civilians. Wartime peak was 33,000. The Pentagon was completed in 1943 at a cost of $83,000,000. It is five stories high and consists of five rings of buildings connected by 10 corridors, with a five-acre pentagonal court in the centre. Total length of corridors is 17½ miles. Parking space 64 acres and can handle more than 8,000 cars.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor, Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and not of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve problems or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

It happens so seldom we can only assume it may have been a match," fire chief James Bayliss said.

"It might not happen again for two years, or it might happen tomorrow. You can't tell."

STUDENT DANCE SEASON OPENS AT ARENA

Annual series of student dances, to be held each Friday from 8 to 11 p.m. in the Memorial Arena, will start tomorrow.

Attendance of between 1,200 and 1,500 is expected.

Dancing will be to recorded music.

Participants must be "properly dressed." Persons wearing blue jeans, pedal-pushers and such forms of clothing will not be admitted.

The weekly dances will continue until September.

RECORD MAY FALL TODAY

'Champagne Air' Intoxicates City

The bursting of buds and sprouting of plants just about drowned out the merry whirr of lawn mowers today as spring bloomed in Victoria in all its glory.

Monday was ordinary. Tuesday was beautiful with a maximum temperature of 60 degrees, and Wednesday was perfect.

The temperature reached a maximum of 65 degrees—normal for midsummer and the highest reading for April 8 since 1926.

A new weather record might be set today, according to weatherman William Mackie. It was 62 at noon. Record for April 9 is 65.6 degrees, just a bit higher than Wednesday's peak.

HOKEY FROM OFFICE

Every beach had its share of sunbathers. Many were children, several were women, but a good many men had announced in their offices they were "going to Sidney to check on Schnakblatt"—by way of the beach, of course—and there they were.

Store owners especially noticed the change from winter to spring. Suddenly garden tools are in demand, although the ground is still a little heavy. Sporting goods, fishing tackle, outboard motors, and bathing suits all drew their share of shoppers Wednesday as the champagne air conjured up pictures of the season to come.

There was a light northerly breeze Wednesday, but it had lost the bite of winter, and in shelter the sun was just as warm as in July.

MAY CONTINUE

Mr. Mackie said the choice weather might possibly continue.

Skies will be clear tonight, with temperatures between 35 and 42 degrees, and Friday will be warm. There is a small chance, though, of some high cloud crossing the city Friday because of a minor disturbance slowly making its way to the coast from mid-Pacific.

$300,000 Repair Bill For Log Barge

Repairs to the 342-foot self-dumping log barge Power River No. 1 will cost in excess of $300,000, a spokesman for Yarrows Ltd. said today.

The barge went adrift from a tug towing it in the Queen Charlotte Island area, and was driven ashore in a gale. Nearly 80 per cent of the barge's steel bottom was destroyed by the pounding on the rocky shore.

About 210 tons of steel will be used to replace the damaged plates.

The barge is owned by the Powell River Co. Ltd.

Extra Power Feeder To 'Protect' Island

B.C. Electric today announced work has started on a 10½-mile transmission line which will increase power security to Vancouver Island.

The line running from Ingledow substation in Surrey to Arnott substation in Delta, will feed a second submarine power circuit under the Strait of Georgia.

At present the two submarine circuits, installed in 1956 and 1958 are fed from one 230,000-volt line between Ingledow and Arnott substations. Between Arnott substation and Vancouver Island the circuits are separate.

The new line will be able to feed power to either or both submarine circuits, providing the second 230,000-volt link between Ingledow sub-

Navy Oil Supply By U.S. Scored

Victoria labor leaders today threw their weight behind protests that U.S.-produced fuel oil is being used in Canadian Navy ships.

Two Vancouver marine workers' unions and a shipping firm argued such oil could be produced in B.C. refineries and that Canadian seamen have lost jobs because the fuel is being carried in U.S. tankers from California.

A. W. Toone, secretary-treasurer of Victoria Labor Council, said it was wrong the fuel should be bought in the U.S. "when we have the facilities to produce it in B.C."

"You always hear the argument that secondary industries should be established in the province. This seems a good opportunity. Certainly it is not economically beneficial to Canada to buy goods from the U.S. that we can produce ourselves."

NAVY DOESN'T KNOW

Similar remarks were voiced by Vic Midgeley, second vice-president of the B.C. Federation of Labor.

The two marine unions involved in the original protest are Seafarers—International Union and the National Association of Marine Engineers. The shipping firm declined to be identified.

SIU official, Norman Cunningham, said, "We have nothing against imports as such, or against trade with the U.S. But the Canadian Navy is carried by taxpayers, and the oil can be produced here."

Navy assistant staff officer Lieut. Ray Wormald in Victoria replied that oil was obtained by the department of defence production and he did

Development Plan Backed By Sidney

Sidney has become the first municipality of the region to accept the controversial master development plan without reservation.

The village commission has voted adoption of the Capital Region Planning Board's 20-year development plan despite opposition of commissioner Joseph Bilgert.

But the plan still appears doomed.

City council has approved in principle the planning provisions for zoning, roads, parks and schools but has balked at the administrative aspect of the master plan.

Under provincial legislation, if two-thirds of the municipalities adopt the plan it goes into operation automatically and no changes to the plan can be made without the consent of a two-thirds vote among the members.

This sore point has prompted opposition of city council, Oak Bay and Central Saanich councillors—enough opposition to block the plan entirely.

Sidney Commissioner J. E. Boshier, village representative on CRPB, argued that there will be no interference with individual municipal rights.

"Individual rights are responsible for planning in the first place," he said at a commission meeting this week. "The fact that the whole place was in a mess led to the need for a plan."

"It is no worse than our zoning or other bylaws. In the final analysis, councils approve each move, and have the final say."

The board is not dictatorial. It is made up of elected representatives like myself," he said.

VICTORIA DIVORCES

Divorces were granted in B.C. Supreme Court, Victoria, Tuesday, to:

Helen Muriel Gore, 862 Somers, from Cecil Norman Gore, North Vancouver; married March 24, 1941.

Yvonne Evelyn Bird, 2839 Austin, from Harold Herbert Bird, 1151 Pandora; married Feb. 14, 1953.

44 STEEL TOWERS

The two independent circuits will provide a high degree of service security as well as allowing maintenance work on either transmission circuit without disrupting power supply to southern Vancouver Island.

The new line consists of 44 steel towers ranging in height from 120 to 50 feet.

Over six miles of the 10½-mile line are being built on peat bog land in Delta municipality. In order to provide a stable foundation for the 26 towers set on the bog, some 450 piles were driven 30 to 50 feet through to solid ground.

REAL DRIVER 'SHIELDED' OWNER PAYS

A Langford woman who preferred to face a careless driving charge herself rather than involve the actual driver of her car when it was in an accident was fined $35 and $2.50 costs in Colwood RCMP court Wednesday.

Gladys Irene Reimer, 2842 Knotty Pine, pleaded guilty even though she was not driving her car and does not hold a driver's licence.

Police laid the charge under a provision of the Motor Vehicles Act allowing a registered owner of a vehicle to be held responsible for the vehicle's operation.

Sooke Death Car Trying to Pass Says Boy Survivor

A two-car collision Monday in the Okanagan which took the lives of four persons, including three Sooke residents, occurred while the Sooke car was passing a third car, according to a survivor.

The accident took place on a clear stretch of the Okanagan Highway near Kelowna. Killed were Mrs. Alfred Brown, 44; Mrs. William Wilson, 25, and her daughter, seven-month-old Erin Marlene Wilson; all of Sooke and in the car believed driven by Mrs. Brown, and Mrs. T. B. Reece, 65, of Westbank, passenger in the second car.

Dick Thut, 12, Mrs. Wilson's stepbrother, who suffered two broken legs in the crash, said their car was following a station wagon pulling a trailer while driving northward to Kelowna.

The crash occurred when their car pulled out to pass the slower vehicle.

The young lad is in hospital in Kelowna.

one of the two cars had a tire blow-out.

RCMP said they have located the driver of the third vehicle in Kelowna but his name was not released. He is reported to have told police he saw the Sooke car pull out to pass, then heard a screech of brakes and a crash. After he saw other persons coming to help the crash victims, he continued on his way.

Police said the driver of the station wagon is a Penticton resident.

INQUEST ADJOURNED

Critically injured was T. B. Reece, 71, of Westbank, whose wife was killed.

An inquest was opened Wednesday morning, but was adjourned to April 15. Successive adjournment will be ordered pending recovery of the two survivors.

Bodies of the Sooke victims arrived here by chartered aircraft Wednesday. Funeral service for Mrs. Brown will be held Saturday at Sands Chapel in Colwood. McCall's will announce arrangements later for Mrs. Wilson and her daughter.

SAANICH HAS TO BOW TO THE CITY THIS TIME. Claims on Wednesday of A. J. Ingram, Old West Saanich Road, that he has the largest camellia "bush" on the coast—a 15-foot showpiece—brought a quick response from city man L. H. Lonsdale. "I've got a bigger one," he said after climbing down from his ladder, tape measure in hand. It has grown to a height of 18 feet. The Lonsdale "bush" is at 1507 Fernwood Road, near Pandora intersection, and the owner estimates it produced at least 2,000 blossoms this year as compared to the "more than 1,000" on Mr. Ingram's garden giant. IN OTTAWA BRIEF

Cities Ask
Works Fund

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities today asked for more federal money to help municipalities pay for major capital works, particularly slum-clearance, community improvement, and urban growth projects.

It urged the government to convene a federal-provincial-municipal conference, and to work towards putting Canadian municipalities on a level of financial equality.

In a brief presented to Prime Minister Diefenbaker and his cabinet, the federation said municipalities in general can pay their own expenses of operation and general services. They couldn't provide the money for the often-vital projects that called for large, immediate spending.

Municipalities were levying all the taxes they legally could, tax rates were higher than ever, and still there wasn't enough money for expansion, for highways, for hospitals and schools.

DIFFICULT TO BORROW

Borrowing the needed money was difficult because interest rates were high, and most municipalities already had borrowed as much as financial circles considered safe—up to 20 per cent of the value of taxable assets. In any case, heavy selling of federal bonds, and industrial bonds, had almost driven municipal bonds off the Canadian market.

Some municipalities were unable even to sell their bonds in the United States.

The brief was a follow-up to an informal federal-municipal conference last October. The conference had asked whether municipalities were all having financial difficulties; whether they were fully using the sources of money now available to them; and whether federal and provincial governments are helping with grants.

Inflation, rising wages, and salaries, rising standards of municipal services, and the rapid growths of urban areas had increased the cost of government, the brief said. Increases in property taxes, business and licence taxes, higher government aid and other revenue had not kept pace.

TRIPLE PLAY SEEN

Senators, Reds
Win Ball Openers

Major league baseball ushered in its 1959 season today with single games in both the American and National Leagues.

At Washington the Senators, behind the sound pitching of Pedro Ramos clobbered Baltimore 9-2. Ramos had a shut-out until Gus Triandos' last-inning two-run homer.

At Cincinnati the Reds turned back Pittsburgh 4-1 as Bob Purkey went the route, giving up only six hits. Robinson hit a home run for Cincinnati. Ronnie Kline was the loser.

At Washington vice-president Nixon was the relief pitcher for President Eisenhower and tossed out the first ball.

Baltimore pulled a triple play in the fifth inning—the first on an opening day in major league history.

Roy Sievers of the Senators walked and Bob Allison beat out a hunt to set up the killing. Ed Fitzgerald lined a drive toward first and Sievers and Allison took off, thinking it would go through for a hit. But Boyd grabbed the ball on the fly to retire Fitzgerald, threw to Chico Carrasquel to catch Sievers off second then took Carrasquel's return throw to put out Allison off first.

FRANK WRIGHT DEAD

Genius of Design
Not Humble Man

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Frank Lloyd Wright, colorful and controversial genius of design, died today in a Phoenix hospital following a brief illness. He was 89.

A giant on the national and international architectural scene, Wright underwent an operation Monday for removal of an intestinal obstruction. He had been stricken Saturday at his winter home near Scottsdale.

Wright was almost as noted for his pithy comments as for his unusual buildings.

HONEST ARROGANCE

"Early in life I had to choose between honest arrogance and hypocritical humility," he said at the age of 87. "I chose honest arrogance and have seen no occasion to change."

Born June 8, 1869, in Richland Centre, Wis., Wright designed more than 700 buildings around the world.

The most famous included the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo, the Guggenheim Museum in New York, and Price Tower in Bartlesville, Okla.

In 1948 the American Institute of Architects named him the 15th winner in 42 years of its gold medal for distinguished service to the advancement of the art and the profession of architecture.

But there was no love lost between Wright and members of the institute. Some of his sharpest barbs were reserved for his fellow architects.

He once described the institute as "the American institute of appearances" and on another occasion declared, "The only thing wrong with architecture is architects."

But architects were not the only objects of his wrath.

HATED CITIES

He didn't like cities. He called them "vampires living on the fresh blood of the countryside and villages, sterilizing humanity. Urban apartment developments were 'nothing but sanitary slums.'"

He called government buildings in Washington "stone quarries erected to satisfy a grandamania as insatiable as it is insignificant."

At an early stage in his career he called skyscrapers "molechs raised for the commercial exploitation of the man in the street."

But in August, 1956, Wright proposed a 510-storey, mile-high skyscraper on the Chicago lakefront.

Special to The Times

OTTAWA — Last minute speculation on the federal budget is that there may not be any major tax boosts after all.

Finance Minister Fleming goes before the Commons at 8 p.m. (5 p.m. PST) to make his budget address and is expected to reach the portions on taxes about 9 p.m. (6 p.m. PST).

In view of the $616 million deficit in the last fiscal year there has been speculation for weeks that a jump in income or other taxes might be necessary.

But observers today were suggesting Mr. Fleming may bank on expansion of the nation's economy during the coming year to produce the revenue necessary to overcome his deficit situation without making drastic changes in the tax structure.

Full details of the budget will appear in Friday's Times.

Bomb Threat

LONDON (AP)—An anonymous telephone caller told Scotland Yard a bomb would be smuggled into today's session of Parliament. The call was believed to be a hoax but police guards at the House of Lords and the House of Commons were told to keep an eye on visitors.

JAPAN'S CINDERELLA STORY

Magic Day for Michiko

See also Page 19

TOKYO (AP)—The pretty commoner marries her prince Friday in the climax to a storybook romance.

"I am passing each day wrapped in an indescribable state of tension," murmured 24-year-old Michiko Shoda as the hour of her tradition-shattering marriage to Crown Prince Akihito drew near.

An intelligent, high spirited girl unknown to Japan's millions less than five months ago, she is destined to ascend the 2,600-year-old chrysanthemum throne one day as Empress.

She has reporters Wednesday night: "I am praying in my heart that I may be able to carry out, somehow, the heavy responsibilities that lie ahead without making any serious mistakes."

The crown prince, 25, and the wealthy flour miller's daughter will become man and wife at 10.13 a.m. (7.13 p.m. PST tonight).

At that moment they will sip sacred wine from shallow, unglazed cups in the Kashikodoko, the imperial Shinto shrine which houses the replica of an ancient mirror, one of the symbols of Japan's royalty.

Thousands of young Japanese girls, to whom Michiko is the embodiment of their post-war emancipation, at the same moment will marry in shrines and wedding halls throughout the country.

Their eagerness to share in the romantic atmosphere of the day was whetted by the young prince's assurance that he is marrying for love even though his bride was nominated by imperial household officials in conformity with tradition.

Inside the moated, high walled imperial palace in the centre of Tokyo each piece of stone and pebble at the entrance to the Shinto holy of holies has been washed and cleaned. Special precautions have been taken to banish any offending flies or insects.

The simple Shinto marriage ceremony will take 15 minutes. Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako will not take part. In accord with tradition they will be officially told of the marriage by the young couple afterward.

Three B.C. Men
Nabbed in Raid

HULL, Que. (CP)—Quebec provincial police arrested five men in a raid Wednesday night on a home in nearby Pointe-Gatineau, Que., which police say was fully equipped for dealings in illegal stock operations.

Accompanied by Ottawa police, they seized a station wagon full of lists of potential customers, stock charts and reams of stock documents.

The five, who appeared in court here today and were remanded in custody, identified themselves as Roger Dufour, 44, Rimouski, Que., and Ludovic, Ga.; Larry Woodson, 31, of Calgary; J. Oliver Moss, 30, of Vancouver; and Ottawa; Saul Kohn, 33, Vancouver and Seattle, Wash., and Garfield Regan, 31, Vancouver.

Police said the raid followed investigation of what is believed to be an international multi-million-dollar stock operation.

The five are charged under the Quebec Securities Act with trading in securities without being registered as brokers or security issuers or as salesmen for a broker or a security issuer, and with acting as investment counsellors without being registered as such.

The first offence carries a maximum penalty of a $10,000 fine and six months in jail and the second carries a $25,000 fine and two years in jail.

Police still are looking for two other men believed connected with the operation. They said they found 12 telephones in the basement of the two-storey building in Pointe-Gatineau, just east of here.

'NEAR-MONOPOLY'

UBC 'Stolen'
By Vancouver

PENTICTON (CP)—Geography has given Vancouver students a near-monopoly on British Columbia's university facilities, the University of B.C. alumni in the Okanagan has complained in a brief to the Chant royal commission on education.

"It seems that when taxes and donations are needed we have a University of B.C., but when benefits and opportunities are offered it's the University of Vancouver," said consulting engineer H. R. Hatfield, a Penticton school trustee.

He said it costs twice as much for outside students to go to UBC as it does for coast residents.

"It's safe to say the seat-warmers and good-time boys who from time to time clutter up the institution nearly all come from Vancouver—no body else can afford it."

Mr. Hatfield said the discrimination is known to UBC's governing personnel but since they live in or around Vancouver or Victoria, they never admit the situation.

Students from the rest of B.C. should in some way have the cost and opportunity of university education made equal with those of coast students, he suggested.

Boy Beaten to Death
By 12-Year-Old Pal

DETROIT (AP)—After an all-night search, 12-year-old Jeffrey Paxton was found beaten to death today in a garage back of his home in suburban Dearborn Township.

The boy had been hidden beneath a work bench by a neighbor boy who, deputy sheriffs said, admitted striking Jeffrey with a hammer because "he teased me."

Deputies quoted John Turner, 12, a junior high school classmate of Jeffrey, as saying, "He kept calling me names. I grabbed a hammer and hit him. I didn't mean to hurt him." Turner was booked for investigation.

VANCOUVER — Charles Gower, president of the Teamsters' Union joint council here, said Wednesday the council has instructed its legal advisers to prepare suits against two Vancouver firms under the new Trades Union Act.

Mr. Gower declined to name the companies involved and said it will be out a month before any action is taken.

"Our policy will be to sue any companies that take action which causes financial loss to our members," he said.

It was reported that one of the suits involved the laying off of union members.

MOTORIST KILLED
KEREMEOS — Wilmer Munroe Fawcett, 65, of Vancouver, was killed Wednesday when his car ran off a cliff and into Yellow Lake, midway between Keremeos and Penticton. The car was recovered from 15 feet of water.

INDIAN CHIEF BURIED
PRINCE RUPERT — A funeral service was held here Wednesday in St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral for Robert Jeffery Stewart, 84, chief of the Nishga Indian nation. He died last Friday.

Born at Kincorinth on the Nass River, he had lived here for the last 16 years. He devoted his life to the betterment of his people, particularly as president of the Nishga land committee which has staged a long battle with the federal government for recognition of Indians' rights.

As a fisherman he worked for the ABC Packing Company from 1906 until his retirement in 1934.

CAR SNOOZE FATAL
BURNABY — Melvin Donald Langerak, 23, of Whalley, B.C., was killed early today when his car rolled down a 50-foot embankment off the Loughheed Highway. Police said they believe the man went to sleep at the wheel of his car. He had been dead for several hours when his body was found at 6 a.m.

MINER KILLED
PRINCE RUPERT — Albert Aoullon, 39-year-old employee of the Torbit Silver Mines Company at Alice Arm was killed Tuesday when trapped in a snowslide near the mine entrance.

HIGHWAY PROPOSED
PRINCE GEORGE — Provincial Liberal Leader Arthur Laing proposed here the construction of a highway between Fort Simpson, Northwest Territories, and Fort Nelson, B.C.

"This is the only way for B.C. to take part in the rich Mackenzie River trade," he said in an interview. "Edmonton industry, doing $15,000,000 a year business from the Mackenzie and, expanding by the week, is laughing at us."

BILLY GRAHAM
... ends crusade

'Do Not Disturb' Churches

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters) — American Evangelist Billy Graham complained today that some churches act as though they had a "do not disturb" sign posted on their front doors.

"This is true in the United States," he said, "although I do not know if this is the case in New Zealand."

Graham, who was ending a six-day crusade here, said he had spoken to more people in New Zealand than in any other week of his ministry.

He added that it would take two to three years to judge the success of the crusade because it takes newcomers that long "to grow in spiritual things."

U.S. Picks Space Flight Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three U.S. Air Force jet pilots, three navy men and a marine have been picked by the government as the Americans best equipped to attempt space flight. Their names were announced today.

One of them two years hence may orbit the earth at an altitude of 100 to 150 miles in a satellite flight. The others probably will take similar space rides in the months following.

The seven chosen from a rigorous selection program, testing both physique and personality, are:

Navy Lieut. Malcolm S. Carpenter, 33, of Garden Grove, Calif.

Air Force Capt. Leroy G. Cooper Jr., 32, of Carbondale, Colo.

Marine Lt.-Col. John H. Glenn, 37, of New Concord, Ohio.

Air Force Capt. Virgil I. Grissom, 33, of Mitchell, Ind.
